HOLY FATHER SPEAKS IN SHADOW OF CUBAN CRISIS

Millions In U.S. Pray As Pope Pleads For Peace

Forty million American Catholics united in prayer last Sunday, the Feast of Christ the King, for peace with freedom and justice.

The nationwide supplication for Divine help came just three days after Pope John XXIII had appealed by radio to rulers of all nations to do everything in their power to save peace.

And the Pope spoke just one day after President Kennedy's announced quarantine of Cuba had become effective and Premier Khrushchev had declared any U. S. attack on Soviet shipping meant nuclear war.

Speaking in French in a broadcast over Vatican Radio which was rebroadcast in several languages, the Holy Father said:

"We beseech all rulers not to remain deaf to the cry of mankind. Let them do everything in their power to save peace. By so doing they will spare the world the horrors of a war that would have disastrous consequences such as nobody could foresee."

"Let them continue to negotiate because this loyal and open attitude is of great value as a witness for the conscience of each one and in the face of history."

The Pope said his lips were "trembling," but his voice was firm as he declared that "to promote favor and accept negotiations at all levels and at all times is a rule of wisdom and prudence which calls down the blessings of heaven and earth."

The world crisis, he continued, had brought fear to millions of families. He urged all Catholics, all Christians and

Bishop Indorses United Fund: 'Fulfills Civic, Moral Duty'

Before his departure for Rome to attend the second Vatican Council, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll, a vice president of the United Fund of Dade County, prepared the following statement formally indorsing the United Fund campaigns in Dade and Broward counties:

"The annual United Fund campaign has been demonstrated to be an effective and, indeed, admirable means whereby all of us, can best fulfill what we acknowledge to be an urgent civic as well as spiritual obligation.

"It is a timely reminder of the duty which is upon the community as a whole to promote the well being and betterment of all our fellow citizens, particularly those in our midst who are victims of misfortune.

"We cannot all discharge that duty by personal services, nor is it desirable that those who act in our stead engage in a multiplicity of appeals throughout the year."

Among the United Fund agencies is the Catholic Welfare Bureau which finds foster homes for needy children and operates a child adoption bureau that unites neglected boys and girls with Catholic parents. It also provides protection and care for unwed mothers. The bureau has again asked Catholics to volunteer in promoting the United Fund and to contribute generously to its support.

"It is my sincere hope that the people of Dade and Broward counties will respond readily and generously to the appeal the United Fund is making this year."

EXILED PRELATE URGES CUBANS TO PRAY IN CRISIS

Bishops Carroll And Boza Talk It Over

(Other articles by Msgr. Walsh on Pages 5 and 7.)

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH
Special Voice Correspondent

VATICAN CITY — The morning after the electrifying news of President Kennedy's quarantine on the shipment of military equipments to Cuba, we were waiting for Bishop Carroll at the obelisk in the piazza of St. Peter.

The Council session that morning had run three hours and a half, as a full quota of bishops were having their say on the project of the Liturgy.

When the huge grilled gates finally swung open and the Fathers of the Council came out into the open, Bishop Carroll was seen walking down the slope with Bishop Boza Masvidal.

The exiled auxiliary bishop of Havana is well known in South Florida. Many remember before his exile how resolutely he defied the communist pressures in Cuba to make him bow to government desires.

Afterwards he was the celebrant of Mass in the great stadium rally of refugees in Miami. More recently he was the preacher on the occasion when Cardinal Spellman ordained the first Cuban seminarian to finish his studies for the priesthood in the United States.

It's a safe guess that the earnest conversation engaged in between himself and Bishop Carroll had to do with the latest climax in the ever worsening situation of communism in Cuba.

When we spoke to Bishop Boza, it was understandable that he could not at that time make a public statement.

Needless to say, it was obvious from his words and manner that he is deeply concerned over the welfare of Cuba in the light of this most recent happening.

As always, he is urging his Cuban compatriots to pray and sacrifice without ceasing that God may reunite them all in peace in their homeland.

The three other Cuban Bishops here at the council have denied that they made or intend to make any statements to the press on the Cuban crisis.

In a note published by the Vatican City daily, L'Osservatore Romano, Bishops Manuel Rodriguez Rozas of Pinar del Rio, Carlos Riu Angles of Camaguey and Jose Dominguez y Rodriguez of Matanzas declared that since their departure from Cuba they have not made, and do not intend to make, any statement or comment to the press.

The prelates spoke after the Rome leftist daily Paese Sera said the Bishop of Matanzas had declared that he and other Cuban Bishops were following events with great interest and were praying for peace.

Nov. 4 Ceremony To Honor Pope

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The fourth anniversary of the coronation of Pope John XXIII, will occur Sunday, Nov. 4. Solemn ceremonies commemorating it will be held in St. Peter's Basilica.

The Ecumenical Council is now in session on Sunday.

Council In New Phase Begins Study Of Eucharist

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The inseparable tie between worship and the Scriptures was dramatically symbolized during the ecumenical council's first week of deliberations when the book of the Gospels was solemnly enthroned prior to each day's discussion of the liturgy.

The liturgical discussions continued over the fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth general sessions of the council. And at the sixth session, the Mass was that of the Byzantine Rite, sung in Greek and Arabic, giving the council Fathers an immediate realization of the fact that while the Church is catholic, her liturgy need not be uniform.

The discussions, all in Latin, brought participation by council Fathers from all continents. Attendance at the sessions ranged from a low of 2,302 to a high of 2,398 Fathers.

While the general sessions are secret, the council press office continued to release information tions and referred in a general way to the problems being discussed.

UNANIMOUS CONCEPT

The sessions regularly began with Mass, which was followed by the enthronement of the Gospel book on the special table with lighted candles on either side.

The ninth general session Monday saw the conclusion of the first chapter of the liturgy project. Sixteen churchmen spoke. Next in order of business was the opening discussion on the second chapter of the project, which deals with the Holy Eucharist.

The council bulletin said later that the "discussions of the first chapter of the project on the liturgy have revealed a unanimous and harmonious concept of the Fathers on the nature and ends of the liturgy. All have stressed that the liturgy continues in time the work of Redemption, preannounced by God in the Old Testament and fulfilled by Christ in the New Testament."

The bulletin said the Fathers were unanimous in agreeing that there is a need to increase the active participation of the faithful in the Church's worship.

"In this respect," it said, "certain proposals were presented: for example, formation of truly qualified teachers to instruct on the historical, theological, spiritual, pastoral and juridic elements of the liturgy in seminaries and in theological faculties; the introduction of the science of the liturgy among basic studies; the creation of national and diocesan liturgical commissions and of institutes of pastoral liturgy which may eventually avail themselves of competent lay experts, especially in the fields of sacred music and art.

MAKING A POINT during his speech to journalists at St. Ives Church in Rome is Auxiliary Bishop Fulton J. Sheen of New York. Bishop Sheen chided his listeners for writing about "conflict and tension" at the Second Vatican Council.

Council Hears Proposal Each Nation Set Liturgy

VATICAN CITY (NC) — A proposal has been advanced at the ecumenical council to permit national episcopal conferences to deal with the detailed application of changes in the liturgy.

This was disclosed at a press conference held after the eighth general council meeting and conducted by American priest - experts to help the English - speaking press follow the work of the council.

Father Edward Heston, C.S.C., procurator general of the Holy Cross Fathers, said a proposal to allow national conferences of bishops to deal with changes and alterations in the liturgy has been made, but that it is not at present clear how the conference might act.

He said the question is whether a conference would be allowed to make decisions without referring them to Rome for final approval.

If the proposal is adopted, it would be up to the council Fathers to lay down general norms and principles governing liturgical renewal within the universal Church, while letting the working out of details remain with regional or national bishops' conferences, which would be able to make decisions more accurately and sensitively meeting the needs of their various areas.

Father Frederick R. McManus, canon law professor at the Catholic University of America, Washington, D.C., and past president of the U.S. Liturgical Conference, pointed out at the time that in several instances national conferences have been authorized to handle liturgical changes for their areas.

"Differences of opinion were expressed, however, regarding language, methods and means to be used in adapting liturgical rites to present times and mentalities, to the customs and traditions of different nations."

The bulletin stated that some of the council Fathers stress the need to conserve liturgical practices as the Church now has them.

The bulletin said that the apparent slowness of the council's discussions is a "most evident indication of two characteristics which have marked the Second Vatican Council from the time of its antepreparatory and preparatory phases: namely, freedom of expression and thoroughness of study."

Acknowledging that the council Fathers had discussed the relative merits of Latin and of local languages in the Mass and the Sacraments, an earlier bulletin spoke of the dual problem this way:

"There are reasons which militate in favor of Latin, inasmuch as its adoption has not only traditional values but it also has a true unifying effect. Furthermore because of its logical precision, because of its concrete phraseology of legal terms, it is particularly suited for theology and dogma.

"The use of the vernacular reveals, moreover, the universality of Christendom, capable even in its unchangeability, of assuming the values and traditions of the individual peoples, of all latitudes and all times, of the present and of the future."

"On the other hand there are important reasons which recommend the use of the vernacular in liturgical functions. First and foremost of these is the vernacular's capacity to make liturgical rites accessible to the community of the faithful and favor, therefore, their active participation in the liturgy.

Italy, U.S. Largest Groups With Seats On Commissions

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Italian prelates form the largest national group in 10 ecumenical council commissions. Italy's total is 51, of whom 19 were elected and 32 appointed.

Representation of United States bishops is second largest, with 18 elected and three appointed, for a total of 21.

France is in third place with 20 members, including 15 elected, five appointed. Then follows Spain with 18 members, 10 elected and eight appointed; Germany with 12 members, 11 elected and one appointed, and Canada with 11 members, nine elected and two appointed.

Those six nations are the only national groups with more than 10 members on the commission.

There are 260 commission members out of some 2,500 council Fathers. Each of the commissions has 16 elected members and 10 members, including presidents, appointed by Pope John XXIII. The commissions are responsible for organizing and amending the proposals in their specific fields for submission to the Fathers.

A total of 59 nations are represented by commission members. Seventeen European countries are represented by 14 members. Fifteen Asian nations have a total of 36 representatives and the same number of Latin American countries have 34 commission members. Together, the U. S. and Canadian members total 32. Nine African countries have 12 representatives and Australia has three.

ON DAY OF PLEA FOR PEACE

Pope John Sees U.S. Prelates

VATICAN CITY (NC)—Pope John XXIII received in audience the archbishops and auxiliary bishops of three major American dioceses the same day he broadcast his urgent appeal for peace.

He welcomed Francis Cardinal Spellman, Archbishop of New York; James Francis Cardinal McIntyre, Archbishop of Los Angeles, and Archbishop John J. Krol of Philadelphia.

The Spellman party included six of the nine auxiliary bishops of New York and William H. Fanning, editor of the Catholic News, weekly newspaper of the New York See.

GIFT PHOTO

Cardinal Spellman, who is one of the 10 presiding cardinals of the ecumenical council, presented the Pope with a photograph of a model of the projected pavilion of the Holy See at the 1964 New York world's fair. The Cardinal was alone with Pope John for 25 minutes before the six auxiliary bishops and Fanning were ushered into the Pope's library to join them.

Cardinal Spellman introduced the auxiliaries to the Pope in the following order: Bishops James H. Griffiths, Fulton J. Sheen, Edward E. Swannstrom, Joseph F. Flannelly, Joseph M. Pernicone and Philip J. Furlong. He described briefly the work done by each.

When told of the Bishop Griffiths' United Nations work — he has represented the Holy See at many U.N. meetings — the Pope spoke of the extreme importance of working for peace among nations.

Upon greeting Bishop Sheen, U.S. national director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, Pope John remarked that it would be a real consolation at the time of one's death to be able to recall a lifetime spent in the service of the missions.

He praised the work of Catholic Relief Services - National Catholic Welfare Conference when he met Bishop Swannstrom, executive director of the overseas charities arm of the Catholic Church in the U. S.

When Fanning was presented, the Pope emphasized the importance of the press in spreading truth. Fanning is serving in Rome as head of the American Hierarchy's press liaison office for the ecumenical council.

Full Text Of New Appeal For Peace By Pope John

(Following is an English translation of the appeal by Pope John XXIII to leaders of the world to avert the "horrors of war" in an address over Vatican Radio soon after the start of the U. S.-Russian crisis over delivery of offensive weapons to Cuba.)

"I beseech Thee, O Lord, let Thine ear be attentive to the prayer of Thy servant and to the prayers of Thy servants who desire to fear Thy name."

This ancient Biblical prayer rises to Our trembling lips today from the depths of a touched and afflicted heart.

While the Second Vatican Ecumenical Council has just been opened amidst the joy and the hopes of all men of good will, threatening clouds now come to darken again the international horizon and to sow fear in millions of families.

As We stressed when welcoming the 86 extraordinary missions present at the opening of the council, the Church has nothing nearer to her heart than peace and brotherhood among all men, and she strives tirelessly to establish them.

We recalled in this regard the grave duties of those who bear the responsibility of power, and We added: "In all conscience let them give ear to the anguished cry of 'Peace, peace!' which rises up to heaven from every part of the world, from innocent children and those grown old, from individuals and communities."

We repeat today that solemn warning. We beseech all rulers not to remain deaf to the cry of mankind. Let them do everything in their power to save peace. By so doing, they will spare the world the horrors of a war that would have disastrous consequences such as nobody can foresee.

Let them continue to negotiate, because this loyal and open attitude is of great value as a witness for the conscience of each one and in the face of history. To promote, favor and accept negotiations, at all levels and at all times, is a rule of wisdom and prudence which calls down the blessings of heaven and earth.

Let all Our Children, let all those who have been marked with the seal of Baptism and nourished by Christian hope, let all those finally who are united to Us by faith in God, join their prayers to Ours to obtain from heaven the gift of peace: a peace which will be true and lasting only if it is based on justice and equity.

And upon all those who contribute to this peace, upon all those who, with a sincere heart, work for the true welfare of men, may there descend the special blessing which We lovingly give in the name of Him who wished to be called the Prince of Peace.

Pope John Makes World-Wide Appeal For Peace Over Vatican Radio

Council Congratulates Pope On Anniversary Of Election

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The Fathers of the Ecumenical Council congratulated Pope John XXIII on the fourth anniversary of his election to the papacy.

They offered their congratulations in a telegram drafted before the adjournment of the eighth general meeting. The text read:

"On the occasion of the most happy day when the Catholic world commemorates the ascent of Your Holiness to the Supreme Pontificate, we, the Council Fathers, gathered together here, humbly but with intense fervor raise our prayers that Almighty God, through the intercession of the Blessed Virgin and of her chaste spouse, St. Joseph, patron of the Ecumenical Council, may preserve you for a long time, our most blessed and gracious Father and Vicar of Christ, and assist the work of the Council, which began so happily, in order that it may continue to be fruitful and may achieve the hoped for success according to your wishes.

"For this purpose may we be helped by your apostolic benediction which we implore with profound veneration gathered closely around your chair of truth."

In answer, the Pope declared:

"We implore an abundance of light and the assistance of the Holy Spirit upon you in your daily work. May you also join your constant prayer to ours, that the Ecumenical Council, meeting close to the tomb of Peter, may shine as a bright star of unity for the whole of society; that it may effectively spread the truth and force of the Gospel, in that it may dispense the treasures of the Holy Church for the expansion of the kingdom of Christ, the kingdom of sanctity and grace, the kingdom of justice, love and peace.

"Above all, let us pray constantly together to the Prince of Peace that His peace, which is above all knowledge, may safeguard the hearts and minds of men, removing all dangers against peace, dangers which can cause endless ruin and tears if they are not eliminated immediately and with supreme prudence."

all who believe in God to join him in praying for "the gift of peace."

On the day the Pope spoke, the Bishops of the United States, participating in sessions of the 21st Ecumenical Council at the Vatican, issued a statement requesting national observance of a day of prayer to "beseech God's blessing on President Kennedy's blessings on President Kennedy and the government.

In a statement issued from Rome, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll urged South Florida Catholics to gather in their homes for recitation of the rosary and requested that special devotions be scheduled in parish churches.

"No one in the Diocese of Miami can be unaware of this critical period since we have been virtual eyewitnesses to the events in Cuba which are now working towards a climax," Bishop Carroll said. "Therefore we will consider it not only a privilege but a solemn obligation to join with our fellow Catholics in begging God to grant that peace with freedom and justice be preserved."

In an earlier statement issued the day after President John F. Kennedy's announcement of the quarantine of military equipment bound for Cuba, Bishop Carroll commended the Chief Executive's action adding that "the mere presence of communist Russia on the doorstep of the United States has been intolerable to Americans who realize the extremely dangerous threat such penetration offers to our own country and indeed to the entire hemisphere.

"It is my fervent prayer during these days when both the news of the Ecumenical Council's activities and this new world crisis occupy the minds of men, that this strong and positive American stand will act as a means of deterring communist leaders from further rash steps endangering the peace of the world," Bishop Carroll said.

Meanwhile two other U.S. prelates attending the Vatican

Council voiced approval of President Kennedy's declaration of the blockade. Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston said the President's move was "very well taken." Bishop Albert R. Zuroweste of Belleville, Ill., stated that the Cuban arms buildup is "a distinct threat to world peace."

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's decision to dismantle his bases and withdraw Soviet missiles from Cuba caused U.S. delegates to the Council to express the hope that the Cuban crisis would be solved peacefully.

"It is a very wise thing for Khrushchev to do," Bishop Carroll declared. "Certainly he was not justified in putting the missile bases there. It will be a relief to everyone to know that we don't have offensive weapons in Cuba pointed at the United States and Latin America.

"This is a very hopeful sign for a peaceful solution to the crisis. Both governments should continue by every means possible to work this out."

Archbishop Returns To Eastern Berlin

VATICAN CITY (NC) — Archbishop Alfred Bengsch, Bishop of Berlin, has left the Ecumenical Council to return to his See city for a youth meeting and other diocesan business. He is expected to return Nov. 3.

Archbishop Bengsch, who resides in the Soviet sector of Berlin, is allowed by its Communist rulers to travel repeatedly to the West.

Council Father Dies; Third In Two Weeks

VATICAN CITY (NC) — A third council Father has died within less than two weeks since the Vatican Council opened.

Archbishop Aston Chichester, S.J., 83, retired Archbishop of Salisbury, Southern Rhodesia, was stricken by an apparent heart attack as he was preparing to enter St. Peter's basilica for a general session of the council.

He died in an automobile while being taken to nearby Santo Spirito Hospital.

A member of an ancient English landed family, Archbishop Chichester was born in Belgium. He entered the English province of the Society of Jesus in 1897 and was ordained in 1913.

AS POPE MOBILIZES MOST POWERFUL SPIRITUAL ARMY

Vatican City Bustles With Activity

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH
(Special Voice Correspondent)

VATICAN CITY — A great crowd of the curious starts gathering at the piazza of St. Peter every morning long before the General Session is due to end. Barricades surround the near end of the square and the crowd in a long semicircle face the basilica. It seems that almost everyone has a camera, waiting for some shots never to be found anywhere but here.

To the right and paralleling the colonnades are dozens of modern, brightly colored buses lined up neatly, poised to take off as soon as loaded with bishops. To the left in several rows running for more than a couple hundred yards are private cars bearing the prized Ecumenical Council emblem over the windshield, and some privileged taxis with an appropriate sticker to prove they too are there to take home the Fathers of the Council.

No one else gets through the two barricade gates. The Italian policemen, we are told, have never been more emphatic than when a car or a person tries to get into the center of the square without credentials.

And if in pictures sent home you see a number of men in business suits strolling aimlessly back and forth in the piazza forbidden area, you can be sure they are not as nonchalant as they seem, for they are policemen in plain clothes. Some very respectable citizens found that out when they were almost within the Basilica when a session was about to begin and were about to congratulate themselves on a historical bit of gate crashing.

Usually the buzz of voices rises sharply when the side gates of the Basilica swing back. It's an unforgettable sight to see the bishops of the Universal church, garbed in formal choir robes, leave the doors of the Basilica. What appears at first to be a thin trickle of purple and white quickly widens into a river and flows down the steep broad slope of the upper approach and breaks into scores of colorful rivulets, as the bishops head either for the buses or cars or decide to walk home.

While watching this memoorable scene the other day, for some reason a much quoted remark of Josef Stalin came to mind. Once when the Holy Father's rigid stand against communism made international news, Stalin sneeringly asked: "How many divisions does the Pope have?"

Watching the bishops of the Catholic world leave their solemn meeting, you wondered about that. Here are the Church's leaders from every nation on earth. They are men with most unusual powers and obligations. But they do not look like military commanders. Many of them, a surprising number perhaps, are aged. Many others with dark beards as is the custom in Oriental rites or in missionary lands look old, belying their youth and vitality. Already four of them have died since the Council began, one of them on the very steps of the Basilica.

On each of the bishops the cross is prominent, and you realize there is the symbol of the strength, the source of their power, which the communists have yet to learn. How many divisions? These members of the hierarchy represent nearly a half billion people. Not a single armed division in Stalin's narrow sense, but the most powerful, efficient spiritual army in the world's history. And it is being mobilized by Pope John now for its greatest offensive, one in which all of us have a part. It makes us realize a little of the significance of the position of the Church in the world and the meaning of this Council.

2,908 Catholic Churchmen Eligible To Be On Council

VATICAN CITY (NC) — There are 2,908 churchmen throughout the world eligible to serve as council Fathers, a directory published by the Ecumenical Council's general secretariat has revealed.

Msgr. Fausto Vallainc, head of the Council's press office, has announced that of this number, 2,540 prelates actually came here for the Council. Some of these have had to return home for various reasons.

The secretariat's directory lists all prelates who had a right to serve as Council Fathers as of Sept. 30, not those who have taken part in the Council so far.

Other countries with more than 50 eligible prelates are Canada, 97; Spain, 95; India, 84; Germany, 68; Argentina, 66; Mexico, 65; Poland, 64, and Colombia, 52.

Not identified as to country in the list are the 97 heads of religious orders who may serve as Council Fathers.

Excluding them, there are 1,089 prelates from Europe eligible to serve as well as 489 from South America, 404 from North America, 374 from Asia, 296 from Africa, 84 from Central America and 75 from Oceania.

There are eligible Fathers from 134 countries, the directory shows. Of these, 44 are in Africa, 31 in Europe, 23 in Asia, 15 in Central America and the Caribbean, 11 in South America, 6 in Oceania and 4 in North America, including Bermuda.

Cuban Crisis Emphasizes Moral Teaching On War

By J. J. GILBERT

WASHINGTON (NC) — Many Americans reacted to the heightened international crisis with prayers that the world would be guided safely through the time of peril.

Typical was the appeal of the U. S. Bishops who called on the nation's Catholics to make the Feast of Christ the King a day of prayer for the preservation of "peace with freedom and justice."

The crisis was an occasion for focusing attention again on Catholic teaching on international conflicts.

A student of papal teachings in this field held that the "quarantine" of offensive arms shipments to Cuba announced by President Kennedy was in conformity with the papal teachings. Msgr. Harry C. Koenig, editor of "Principles for Peace," a collection of papal documents, said the teaching of the popes "opposes blockades which aim at starving and demoralizing people but it does not oppose a blockade preventing the shipping of offensive armaments."

As for the question of warfare in the nuclear age, most experts agree that Catholic teaching has undergone major modifications in view of the tremendous destructive power of modern weapons.

Catholic moralists, of course, universally agree that so-called "obliteration" bombing of population centers is forbidden. Beyond this, however, there is the question of what targets, if any, nuclear weapons may be used on.

The recently published "Dictionary of Moral Theology," compiled under the direction of Francesco Cardinal Roberti, Prefect of the Supreme Tribunal of the Apostolic Signature, poses this question. In reply it notes that there is no possibility of escape for non-combatants in the area of an atomic explosion and says: "Hence, the use of atomic weapons should be restricted even more than that of ordinary bombs, and should be limited to exclusively and specifically military objectives."

But the dictionary also notes that war has its own brutal logic and that "often a war reaches a point where anything goes, fair or foul." In view of this, it says, "the only sane, moral and humane approach . . . is to establish a system whereby all conflicts between nations are referred to a higher tribunal with effective power recognized by all countries of the world."

It is well known that the lesson of war was one of the agonizing concerns of the late Pope Pius XII. Thus, commenting in 1953 on ABC warfare, the Pope said that if the damage resulting from war is not comparable to the injustice which has raised the possibility of armed conflict, "one may be obliged to submit to the injustice."

Three years later, however, speaking in 1956 after the suppression of the Hungarian revolution, the Pope made this statement:

"It is clear that in the present circumstances a situation may arise in a nation wherein, after every effort to avoid war has been expended in vain, war — for effective self-defense and with the hope of a favorable outcome against unjust attack — could not be considered unlawful."

Even more relevant, perhaps, are words spoken by Pope Pius to the world in 1939, as global war threatened:

"Nothing is lost with peace. Everything may be lost with war. Let men come again to understand one another. Negotiating with good will and with respect for their reciprocal rights, they will perceive that honorable success is never precluded to sincere and constructive negotiations."

A similar thought was at the heart of a recent appeal by Pope John XXIII. Speaking October 12 to special missions to the ecumenical council, Pope John called on government leaders to "continue to meet, to discuss" and to be "ready for the sacrifices necessary for saving the peace of the world."

reapportionment formula, but large numbers of civic groups throughout the state are opposed to it.

As presently made up — and as constituted since 1945 — the Florida legislature has 38 senators and 95 members of the lower house. The proposed amendment would increase the membership to 46 senators and 138 representatives. The eight additional senators would go to the middle-sized counties and the 40 new House members to the biggest counties, most of them in South Florida.

Under the long-existing present setup, 16.5 per cent of the voters elect a majority of the House and 14.3 per cent a majority of the Senate. If the new proposal is approved, 27.4 per cent will elect a majority of the House and 13.4 per cent a majority of the Senate.

That, in the opinion of this writer is hardly half a loaf — but it does look like a bigger and better porkchop.

Has TV Learned A Lesson?

Has television learned a lesson?

Well, according to the manager of TV's code of standards, there now is less sex, crime and violence in programs. He is Edward H. Bronson, who told the National Association of Broadcasters in Washington that "the great hue and cry during the two year period ending last spring" over objectionable programs has died down.

With Mr. Bronson we agree that it is to the credit of major producers of television fare that they are now more carefully following the spirit and intent as well as the language of their code.

Meanwhile, with the fervent hope that the TV leaders will continue their sensible vigilance, we shall see what we shall see in the months ahead until next year when those awful re-runs probably will bring back all the sex, crime and violence of the past year.

Latin American Catholics Back U.S. Action On Cuba

NCWC News Service

Catholic spokesmen in Latin America gave approval to President John F. Kennedy's declaration of a U. S. blockade on offensive weapons being sent to communist-ruled Cuba by the Soviet Union.

In MEXICO, Father Pedro Valezquez, secretary of the Inter-American Federation of Catholic Social Action, said of the Cuban crisis:

"We cannot remain neutral in the present conflict nor take refuge in the egotistical attitude of those who look undaunted on the sufferings of others.

"It is up to us," he said, "to support our governments in their steps toward the common good of country, continent and world."

In URUGUAY, Christian Democratic leader Juan Vicente Chiarino said that "since Berlin the possibility of war has never been closer." He added that only "evidence of Soviet infiltration in Cuba of such magnitude . . . could have obliged Kennedy to announce such very serious measures."

A Christian Democrat member of Congress, Americo Pla Rodriguez, stated: "We are on the threshold of a war that could be fatal to humanity. Kennedy puts things with energy and clearness. I hope that prudence may avoid the worst evils."

In COSTA RICA, in the absence of the nation's Bishops who are attending the ecumenical council at the Vatican, the cathedral chapter in San Jose announced its support of the Costa Rican government, which has backed President Kennedy's stand.

Your Vote Is Important

Growth, development and population increase in South Florida have been phenomenal in recent years. However, with more and more people continuing to pour into this area, the Florida State Legislature has slighted them except from the standpoint of gathering in their taxes.

"Taxation without representation" is one of the basic principles which led to the founding of this nation.

A few months ago, as a result of a suit by one taxpayer, a Federal court ordered that the state be reapportioned insofar as representation in the state legislature is concerned. The legislature, in special session, wrote a new apportionment formula approved by the three-judge Federal court, subject to acceptance by all the voters of the state. If it is rejected by majority vote, the Federal court will do the apportioning.

Next Tuesday, Nov. 6, voters throughout the state will go to the polls to decide the issue. Every citizen of Florida should vote on this all-important issue; every citizen must vote, for this is a moral as well as a civic responsibility of everyone.

How should you vote? That is a decision to be made by each individual after the issue has been studied. Governor Bryant and a majority of members of the legislature are in favor of the new

Opinions Vary At Council About Changes AN ALTAR BOY NAMED "SPECK"

By MSGR. JAMES J. WALSH

VATICAN CITY — Most adults in the Diocese of Miami have thought much more in recent weeks about the possibility of changes in the Liturgy, which the Council Fathers have been voting on the past several days in dramatic sessions.

MSGR. WALSH

Perhaps it would be of interest to our people at home to compare their own views on the matter to the convictions expressed to us by a number of bishops from India, Africa and Indonesia. Their remarks were made, of course, from their views often expressed in their home dioceses, not from what they learned at Council sessions.

Take the matter of lay deacons. Among laity in the Diocese of Miami, notably in a survey conducted among Serra club members, there was a sharp division of opinion. Some very much for it, some strictly against it. Most of us at home felt that in missionary lands the lay deacon would be warmly welcomed. This is not true. Some of the bishops appear to favor it, but others rather strongly are against it.

For instance, a native African bishop who started a new diocese two years ago does not think the establishment of the lay diaconate would help his people. He has had excellent results from lay catechists, he stated, but also many problems arise in their work. He feels the diaconate would give rise to much more serious problems, and they are just not ready for them. Moreover, a great many of his people are not very long removed from paganism and need more maturity in the Faith.

An Indonesian bishop is not

enthusiastic about lay deacons either because, among other reasons, in their area serious social problems would be raised, since married clergy would have to be supported to some degree. He feels the catechists can do the most necessary work right now, but he admits other areas may feel the need of deacons.

Several bishops from India thought the lay diaconate would seriously impair vocations to the priesthood. One young bishop, just consecrated two weeks before the Council began, stated that many boys in their country would stop at the diaconate, marry and feel they were indeed working enough for God and the Church. Human nature being what it is, he continued, some would be deterred from making the sacrifices demanded by celibacy.

Moreover, he stated their great need is not in giving Holy Communion, but in hearing confessions, which a deacon could not do. And since men, neither priests nor bishops, can instruct women by the ancient customs of India, deacons would be of no help in this vital problem. For this they need more nuns and women catechists.

With regard to eliminating Latin from the Mass and in the administration of the Sacraments, the views expressed were quite similar to many heard in the Diocese of Miami. Many, perhaps the vast majority, feel that changes at least in some parts of the Mass to the vernacular are urgent. Some missionary bishops are most anxious that the change come now and not be prepared for execution in another generation. One stated that Latin is not a dead language in Africa, because it never lived there. It is abstract as far as the Africans go, a complete mystery.

On the other hand, one African bishop said pointedly, "What vernacular shall we put certain parts of the Mass in? We have 300 languages!" Which is another good point, and illustrates the size of this problem.

An Indian bishop stated that if the Mass was put in the vernacular of his area, which used large ancient letters, it would take a strong man to carry the huge missal to Mass which the laity would use.

Most of them are eager to have the Sacraments, especially baptism and marriage, in language the people can understand. Moreover they favor greatly the proposal to administer Baptism gradually, over a period of time, initiating converts slowly into the various steps leading to full participation in the Christian life.

Many of them want plain chant done away with as far as Africa goes. They claim the African people simply cannot learn plain chant. One bishop pointed to the fact that African tribal music had been used for Mass and done so very effectively. Perhaps some have heard the records of this Mass, when the Kyrie was sung against the background of tom toms. They apparently are anxious to have permanent permission to make such adaptations.

These past several days of voting among the Fathers will have a profound influence on our liturgical life of the future. While we at home differ in details from the fellow Catholics in Africa, India and Indonesia, we certainly share with the same desire to make the Mass more real, more meaningful to ourselves and to all others.

"Orbiting the moon! Wow — that sure makes the zero I got in spelling seem unimportant!"

Various Aspects Of The Laity's New Role

By FR. KILIAN MCGOWAN

Last week the new status of the emerging layman was treated here. Cardinal Leger of Montreal, one of the leaders in stressing the active role of the laity writes: "The laymen in the Church cannot simply be the one who listens and keeps quiet, who submits and does nothing".

Fr. McGowan

The 1960 joint pastoral letter of the Italian Bishops recommended that "priests are to appeal constantly to lay personal initiative and responsibility." It is said that the Council will discuss (under the question of Christian Unity) the duties and functions of the laity in the modern Church.

One thing is sure, the laity is and has been demanding to know precisely what is expected of them today. The following are some areas open to greater activity on the part of the layman . . .

1) The Liturgy — By their baptismal character the laity are deputed to an active sharing in the worship and sacrifice of Christ. An increased use of the vernacular, or any other changes in the liturgy, will be directed to a deeper understanding and a more intelligent fulfillment of the laity's role here.

2) Missionary Activity — In the missions fields at home and abroad, the opportunity for the laity has never been greater. There is urgent need of trained laymen as catechists, doctors, builders, etc. Never have so many of the laity responded to this apostolic challenge, and still they are all too few for the work ahead.

3) Social Doctrine — The laity should first of all know the social doctrine of the Church.

A mass effort is needed to bring social justice to every underprivileged individual and nation in the kingdom of Christ. Whatever is necessary to decency and the practice of virtue should be denied to no one.

4) Advisory Committees — Some Bishops have invited members of the laity to join advisory committees in the fields of Catholic education and the lay apostolate, as well as building and financial commissions. The lay voice may be increasingly heard in these areas.

5) Catholic Education — With the increasing competence and experience of the laity here, more are qualified for positions of management in our educational institutions. Several Bishops have already used them as advisors on the diocesan level. This tendency will probably expand even further.

6) The Work of Unity — The laity are in daily contact with our separated brethren, and thus have greater influence on them. They should know well the message of Christ and be able to explain it. Through their understanding and tolerance, their prayer and patience they must ever project a Christ-image to the world.

7) Collaboration with the Clergy — Practically everyone admits the need of better communication between clergy and the laity. It seems that the clergy should be more open to the suggestions and objective criticism of the laity, and the laity should bring their thinking and activities in line with the mind of the Church.

The preparatory commissions of the Council, through the Bishops, invited the laity to speak out, and they answered with remarkable frankness and an evident concern for the Church's welfare. A good start has been made, but the lines of communication should be opened even more.

America's Challenge In The Schools

By JOSEPH BREIG

The dispute over prayer in public schools must not be allowed to obscure the vital fact that what America needs, if its future is to be as great as its past, is citizens adequately educated in religion and ethics, as in other branches of knowledge.

Perhaps we needed the Supreme Court's decision against the regents' prayer to jolt us out of a complacency in which we tended to delude ourselves that everything was fine as long as children started the school day by invoking divine assistance.

Sincere prayer is always desirable, but prayer ought to arise out of as much comprehension as possible of God, of the nobility to which man is called, and of the destiny toward which humanity moves under the guidance of Providence.

CHALLENGE TO SCHOOLS

The great problem and challenge for all educators and all schools — public, private or parish — is to prepare young people for a maturity illumined by awareness of duty and of why there is such a thing as duty, and made ready by careful character formation to discharge their duties.

It is a poor sort of education which leaves children standing for prayer without any attempt at a grounding in theology which would give them a firm grasp on what prayer is, why it is important and what relationship it has with their fullest development, their happiness and their service to themselves and their fellowmen.

In the very act of praying many pupils, because they have been left almost illiterate, religiously speaking, have hardly a three-year-old's conception of what prayer is all about, and of what is the meaning of God and religion for the future of the world.

HONESTY AND TRUTH

It is pathetically far from sufficient to hand children a prayer to recite if nothing can be done, for instance, to help them understand why they must be just and kind to other folks, no matter what their social or financial position, or their nationality or color.

Prayer is some help, but not nearly enough, if we are going to have citizens who know why nazism and communism are hideous; what marriage and family life are for; how honesty and truthfulness make for great achievement, and why there must be a better world for all mankind tomorrow.

It is too bad, of course, that any good prayer should be illegal; but the little religious exercises in the public schools have hidden from consciences the fact that we were neglecting the education of many children by not providing sufficient knowledge of basic religious truth.

'Roman Question' Is Closed By Pope's Trip To Shrines

ROME (NC) — The journey of Pope John XXIII to Loreto and Assisi on Oct. 4 "ideally closed the Roman Question" which had long complicated relations between Italy and the Holy See.

This, said Civiltà Cattolica, fortnightly magazine published by the Rome province of the Society of Jesus, was the chief significance of the unusual train trip which the Pope made only a week before the opening of the ecumenical council.

The article noted that the Pope returned to areas that had once formed the Papal States and which had been taken by force from the papacy in the establishment of Italy as a nation.

Pope John's return was not as the head of state but as a pastor and father of the faithful, the article said. It continued:

"He was received by the Italians as perhaps none of his predecessors was ever received in the papal domains, with a spontaneity and joyous fervor which must have surprised the Supreme Pontiff himself."

The magazine also noted that when the Pope met with Italian President Antonio Segni on the steps of the Basilica of Loreto, he was only a few miles from the town of Castelgardo where a century ago the Piedmontese troops and papal soldiers fought bitterly. Moreover, the Piedmontese had used the basilica as a hospital during the battle.

The Jesuit review concluded that the journey of Pope John did have a political significance. "This is in the fact that the Pope's pilgrimage to Loreto and Assisi closed ideally the Roman question or, if one wishes, it stresses how good and advantageous was the 1929 Lateran Treaty for the Church, the State and the people of Italy."

Prelate Hopeful Of Solving Puerto Rican Church Issue

SAN JUAN, P.R. (NC) — A papal diplomat described as "satisfactory" his second meeting with Puerto Rico's Gov. Luis Munoz Marin. He added that there "is hope of a solution" of the Church-State problems in the island.

Archbishop Emanuele Clarizio, Apostolic Nuncio to the Dominican Republic whose jurisdiction includes Puerto Rico, called the visit with the governor at La Fortaleza a "confirmation of the common effort."

"Puerto Rico could become an example of good relations between Church and State for the Catholic majority of Latin America," the Archbishop said.

"Naturally this demands a spirit of good will to take the necessary steps courageously for the greatest welfare of the

Strained relations between the Puerto Rican Hierarchy and the Munoz Marin administration started in May, 1960, when the House of Representatives killed a bill calling for establishment of a released-time program for religious instruction of public school students.

As a result of the breach, the Catholic oriented Christian Action party was formed with the sanction of the island's bishops.

Later the bishops issued a pastoral forbidding Catholics to vote for candidates of the Popular Democrats, the Munoz Marin party.

After the first visit between Archbishop Clarizio and Munoz Marin, Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan, acting as Metropolitan of the San Juan Province, lifted the order forbidding Catholic support of the Popular Democrats.

At the same time, Archbishop Davis said the Christian Action party is "not a Church party."

Peru Junta Seeks Support Of Church In Civic Drive

LIMA, Peru (NC) — The support of the Church in a national campaign to build civic responsibility among Peru's people is actively sought by the army junta now ruling the country.

This was stated here by a spokesman for the army group, Gen. Juan Bossio Collas, who said:

"I believe that the Church has a highly valuable message at this time. If Catholicism in Peru changes its structure and attitude and puts the stamp of the Gospel on the social teachings it possesses, it can perform a great task in our country and in all Latin American countries, since they are all essentially Catholic."

"Until recently, I regret to say, Catholicism has insisted that the Gospels have a more personal meaning. It believed that its mission centered in the cloister and the church, and not in the temporal needs of the people. Of course there are priests who strive hard to solve social and economic questions, but they are relatively few in number."

General Bossio recently resigned his post in the current military government for reasons of health. At his departure the Catholic weekly Actualidad saluted him with the comment that his presence on the ruling council had "inspired trust in its democratic aims."

The General's remarks, made in an exclusive interview with the NCWC News Service, stressed the need for building a true base for democracy in Peru. It was this need, he said, that led to the army coup in which he participated after the Peruvian elections last June. The army stepped in to take charge then with the contention that widespread election irregularities had turned the voting into a perversion of democracy.

The General's appeal to the Church to enter the political and social arena in Peru was coupled with a similar appeal to the other national institutions, the trade unions, press, business community, educators and intellectuals, and leaders of public opinion.

"We ask for their cooperation so that they will instruct citizens in the free and intelligent exercise of voting. We would like to have those who have the right to vote to do so in freedom. We want Peruvians to vote at any time for the candidates of their choice, but we want them to know who these persons are and to know who wants to advance their interests."

TIRUVALLA, India (NC) — A priest of the Syrian Jacobite Church of Malabar has led his own and 91 other families in the hamlet of Kudal into the Catholic Church.

The 92 families, consisting of 248 people, were received in the wake of increased mission activity on the part of the Malankara Rite Catholic Diocese of Tiruvalla.

The former Jacobite priest who is now a Roman Catholic is Father Geevarughese Chuttyavattath. His own son, who was among those received, is an ordained deacon.

Laymen Need New Maturity, Adult Education Group Told

NEW YORK (NC) — The Catholic layman today faces a special challenge to achieve religious maturity, the National Catholic Adult Education Commission was told here.

Father Daniel E. Lupton, a priest of the Pittsburgh Oratory, said that "at no other time has it been so necessary for the individual Christian to formulate a personal synthesis of this Faith and the world around him."

Catholic adult education programs can play an important part in the process of developing religious maturity in laymen, Father Lupton told the Adult Education Commission's second annual conference held at Fordham University.

He said the modern attitude toward ethics is one of "increasing relativism" while at the same time "the pressures of this same society to conformity are most difficult to withstand."

He described as a "tragic blunder" the attitude of looking to priests to plan and initiate programs of lay action.

"The layman must himself see the problems, exercise the prudential judgments, and plan his programs in these areas which are his own," he declared.

Chicago Birth Control Plan Termed 'Against Morality'

CHICAGO (NC) — A proposal that the Illinois Public Aid Commission provide tax-paid birth control services to relief recipients is "against public policy and public morality," the Vicar General of the Archdiocese of Chicago said here.

Msgr. George J. Casey said that if the proposal were to be adopted, it would create "the strange anomaly of a state government interfering in a matter which pertains to conscience and religion."

Monsignor Casey spoke to delegates to the midwest regional convention of the Catholic Press Association.

Msgr. Casey noted that misunderstandings have arisen regarding the reasons for the Catholic Church's opposition to such tax-paid services.

"Of course," he explained, "the Catholic Church teaches officially that birth control is morally wrong and we have naturally emphasized this for our Catholic people. But we by no means intend to impose or inflict our code of ethics on the general public. Our opposition to the proposals stems from the fact that they are against public policy and public morality."

Around the NATION

In regard to the claim that birth control services would be provided only for those who voluntarily asked for them, Monsignor Casey said: "The program would not work, would not achieve its objective unless the services are suggested, encouraged and promoted by the state."

"Moreover," he continued, "82 per cent of the prospective recipients concerned are either unmarried or not living with their legal spouse, and so you would de facto have the state with public tax funds furnishing contraceptives to unmarried women and thereby abetting, encouraging, facilitating, sponsoring and even subsidizing fornication and adultery."

Monsignor Casey mentioned a counter-proposal that public funds be used instead for the education of the illiterate involved.

Priest Commutes By Boat To Offer Mass On Island

FORT MYERS BEACH — A seagoing priest who commutes each Sunday by boat to offer Mass in his new mission is Father Miguel Goni, administrator of Ascension parish here.

When the Spanish born priest inaugurated Masses on Sanibel Island, he found himself with a difficult transportation problem since he celebrates Masses at 7:30 a.m. and 9:30 a.m. in the Church of the Ascension and must be on Sanibel to offer Mass at 11 a.m.

Since the ferry would not allow him to reach the island on time, Father Goni accepted the invitation of the Blaney family who offered to transport him in their motor launch from the north end of Estero Island as soon as he concludes his second Sunday Mass in Ascension Church.

At Sanibel, Mrs. Patricia Murphy waits at the marina to take him by auto to the mission. According to Father Goni eight minutes in the boat is the best time in which he has made the crossing. He added that 12-year-old Patrick Blaney who usually pilots the boat is endeavoring to cut down on the time.

Well known for his apostolic work among the migrant workers in the Palm Beach and Fort Myers areas, Father Goni formerly served as assisted pastor in Holy Name parish, West Palm Beach; St. Joan of Arc parish, Boca Raton; St. Edward parish, Palm Beach; St. Francis Xavier parish, Fort Myers and in Corpus Christi and St. Michael parishes, Miami. In 1959 he was a member of the faculty at Archbishop Curley high school, Miami.

Prayer, Social Events Open Catholic Youth Week Here

Let's not condemn youth too much," Father Walter J. Dockerill urged in a television talk opening National Catholic Youth Week here.

"When you stop and think about it," said Father Dockerill, who is diocesan youth director, "it's amazing how good they are."

Father Dockerill's talk was one of several activities which helped launched Youth Week in the Miami diocese.

Other activities included:

A DANCE last Saturday at the Everglades Hotel which drew more than 650 CYO members,

CORPORATE COMMUNION observed by the CYO of Holy Family parish, North Miami at 8 a.m. Mass last Sunday,

BENEDICTION observed by the CYO of St. Hugh parish, Coconut Grove,

HOLY HOUR attended by more than 100 CYO members at St. Rose of Lima parish, Miami Shores.

Catholic Youth Week ends Sunday, Nov. 4.

Father Dockerill's plea not to criticize youth too much came during a two-way panel discussion on youth with Father David J. Heffernan. The discussion was aired on WCKT's "That I May See" program last Sunday.

Father Dockerill urged his TV audience to "try to help our youth a little instead of finding things wrong with them."

But, he said, if parents would encourage their youngsters to become active in organizations like the CYO which offers a program of "leisure time activities," then perhaps this trend could be reversed.

PRIMARY RESPONSIBILITIES

Father Heffernan brought out that organizations like the CYO "are not intended to take away from families the primary responsibility of training youngsters."

"Some parents," said Father Heffernan, "feel wrongly that once their children reach high school age they are relieved of the job of training them."

Father Heffernan agreed with Father Dockerill that young people should not be criticized too much.

He pointed out that today's space age youth faces the constant threat of nuclear war and have been left with "many messes" inherited from past generations.

"Never before in history," Father Heffernan said, "has so much been expected of young people."

CATHOLICS GET LOW COST HOSPITAL PLAN

Catholic men and women now get low cost hospital insurance from our 83-year-old non-profit Society — The Catholic Association of Foresters (formerly known as the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters). For example: for only $2.05 per month, men under 61 can receive $50 a week while hospitalized for any accident or sickness covered by our insurance. Payments of $100 or $150 a week are also available. The same plan is available for women at a slightly higher premium.

Catholics of advanced age can be insured at additional cost. You are paid in addition to other insurance. You spend the money as you wish — for hospital bills, doctor bills or expenses at home. Choose from a wide variety of plans to bring your present insurance up to date or get complete protection. With hospital costs more than double what they were just ten years ago, there is a good chance you need more insurance.

The Communist Line Within The United States

As a part of their regular course of instruction on the evils of Communism, Miami Diocesan school pupils study "Questions and Answers on Communism" by Richard Cardinal Cushing. The Voice therefore publishes another installment of excerpts from this authoritative source through the courtesy of the Daughters of St. Paul, at whose bookstore, 2700 Biscayne Blvd., the complete volume is available.

Q. Have we evidence today of the triumph of the Communist line within the United States?

A. The whole recent history of the United States is a record of the triumph of the Communist line, adopted partially and reluctantly but to too great a degree.

In 1955, we went to the summit meeting at Geneva, because of Soviet pressure in the countries which have Communist Parties and because of the appeasement forces in the United States. This represented another defeat. While we were endlessly debating at Geneva with Soviet representatives, they were making their great breakthrough in the Middle East, now represented particularly by predominant Communist influence in Iraq.

Q. Was this followed up by further advances of the Communist line?

A. Many of the orders given by Nikita Khrushchev at the 20th Congress of the Communist Party of the Soviet Union in February, 1956, have been obeyed by the United States Government. One of these immediately is cultural exchanges, which Khrushchev recommended in order to be able to create a spirit of complacency in this country and to plant Soviet agents here. Another is the sweeping victory of the idea of "peaceful coexistence," specifically represented by our servile and warm reception of Khrushchev in this country in 1959.

Q. Can you give one example of how our "invitation" in 1959 to Dictator Khrushchev built up Soviet Power against the United States?

A. We could give many, but will restrict ourselves to one.

In connection with the Khrushchev visit, the Communist press has been busy throughout the eighty-three countries in which Communist parties function in telling in effect the comrades that the American nation agrees with Soviet actions.

In Number 37 of the New Times from Moscow, (one of the issues of September, 1959) great emphasis is placed on the fact that Khrushchev's trip was signalized by his article "On Peaceful Coexistence" in the American magazine, Foreign Affairs. And it is further emphasized that the Soviet dictator wrote in that article:

"Apart from the commitment of non-aggression, it (peaceful coexistence) also presupposes an obligation on the part of all states to desist from violating each other's territorial integrity and sovereignty in any form under any pretext whatsoever..."

By publishing such crass nonsense as this — in view of the Soviet conquest by force of the Baltic and Balkan countries, of Hungary and Asian nations — a leading American magazine helps the Soviet cause. It permits the Soviet propagandists to sneak into the press of the rest of the free world the idea that the United States actually approves of the slaughter of the Hungarian people and of other Soviet conquests.

Q. When the Communists use the terms "imperialism" and "imperialist countries" as they do repeatedly, they have a different meaning in mind from what we do when we use those terms?

A. That is correct. By "Imperialism" the Communists never mean the Soviet taking over by force of various countries. That is always "liberation." The "imperialist countries" are always the democratic nations.

'Dad Nags Son About Doing Well In Sports'

Why are some fathers so anxious to have their sons do well in sports? According to my husband, our sons just don't live up to his expectations and never try hard enough in the field. We hear sports from morning until night (including meal times). It is a constant, bitter, sarcastic argument right through. I like to watch my children play, also, but not to the point that I nag and nag if they don't do as well as another kid. Father, I'm not exaggerating when I say that the children and I are becoming very nervous over this situation. What can I do?

By FATHER JOHN L. THOMAS, S. J.

I suppose most parents start out with somewhat inflated expectations for their progeny, Stella. As a rule, their hopes in regard reflect their values. If they hold intellectual pursuits, business success, music, athletic prowess, or some particular profession in high esteem, their parental expectations will normally follow corresponding lines.

Sometimes these hopes play the role of self-fulfilling prophecies in the sense that what were initially only imagined or hoped for abilities are eventually acquired through the special efforts the child may make to meet parental expectations. Of course if parental hopes are groundless or too high, there is bound to be trouble, for parents will feel that the child is not really trying, while constant failure to meet expected standards will deprive the child of confidence in whatever abilities he may possess.

As in your family circle, Stella, mothers and fathers may differ widely in their parental expectations. You apparently regard sports as a pleasant diversion for your sons, while your husband takes a much more serious view, though it is not clear from your description whether he is primarily concerned over his sons' failure to star on the field or over what he considers their lack of effort. Let us explore each of these possibilities a little further, since they reflect different attitudes and must be dealt with differently.

If the major reason he is irritated is their lack of outstanding success, his attitude may stem from several different sources. He may be a "drugstore quarterback" who has had little actual experience in sports and consequently underestimates the difficulties involved. He may be comparing his son's performance with an exaggerated image of his own youthful prowess — you recall the old saying "The older we get, the farther we could swim or throw a ball when we were young!" He may have been frustrated, either by lack of size, parental prohibition, or absence of opportunities, in his own desire to play as a youth and is now deeply irritated with his sons because they are not performing the way he imagines he would have done if he had had the opportunities they now enjoy.

Or, like not a few other Americans, he may have a wholly unbalanced view of the importance of competitive sports and related athletic prestige, so that he feels his sons are threatening to fail him in the one activity he understands and values. We have a good number of these perennial adolescents around, and it has been their insistence on always having winning teams that has led our schools to neglect the physical training of the average student while devoting huge expenditures of time and money to select, train and equip a handful of young gladiators, whose primary purpose in school is to man the various teams.

On the other hand, your husband may chiefly be concerned over the boys' lack of effort in sports. If his diagnosis of their failures is correct, he has reason to be worried, for young males who do not try hard in competitive sports either lack normal self-confidence, are unduly fearful of being hurt, or display a psychologically unhealthy indifference to teamwork and social challenge.

It is possible that your sons show indifference or reluctance to becoming wholly "engaged" in an ever expanding circle of masculine activities because they are still too closely bound to you and oriented to the predominantly feminine world of childhood. Perhaps your husband senses this vaguely and is reacting to it more or less blindly.

What can you do? If his irritation stems from an exaggerated esteem for athletic success, you're not likely to change his outlook, but you can point out in no uncertain terms that by his ranting and constant criticism he is effectively destroying their chances for success. Ask him what he has ever done to help them improve, and point out that if he pretends to understand so much about sports, he should know that a player's self-confidence and assurance, steadily maintained by the encouragement and support of the people he esteems, are key factors in his success.

But as I suggested, Stella, your husband may have solid grounds for his irritation, though his efforts to remedy the situation are quite irrational. Every mother must someday face the fact that her growing sons, like awkward fledglings, must be encouraged to leave the nest, the protective woman's world of their childhood, and make their start in the rough, competitive world of men. Teach your sons to give their best in whatever they do. The common error in regard to competitive sports is not in wanting to win but in upsetting our rational hierarchy of values by making sports an end rather than a means.

The exclusive coating White-Tite uses stays brilliantly white for years. White-Tite also has an exclusive three-coat gravel roof process which locks the gravel in place and protects the roof against high winds and rain. # Everybody Loves Chili Con Carne

By FLORENCE DEVANEY

"The discovery of a new dish does more for human happiness than the discovery of a star," declared 18th Century Brillat-Savarin.

What, we wonder, would this bon-vivant have said about the discovery of a piquant and sparkling, all-in-one seasoner like chili powder? Here we have not one single dish, but the exciting savor for dozens, if not hundreds, of culinary creations.

Brillat-Savarin went to his reward about 25 years before chili powder first came into use. The story of its origin is legendary at this point, since there were no food historians on the scene at the time.

During the two years of our war with Mexico, many of the men of the U. S. had an opportunity to taste Mexican foods and learned to love chili dishes.

Some culinary genius who will remain forever nameless, created chili powder as an approximation of Mexican seasoning.

This blend has all the aroma of the Mexican spicing, although only a small part of its pungence. Today, chili powder is on the best-seller list, well up among the top ten spices.

Ground chili peppers, ground cumin seed, ground oregano and garlic powder are basic ingredients of chili powder. No two spice houses make exactly the same blend, each naturally making what it considers the best.

Ground cloves are used in some blends or ground allspice or powdered onion may be added, depending on the manufacturer.

The most famous of all chili dishes is chili con carne, a marvelously satisfying concoction with a rich and aromatic fragrance. Everybody loves chili con carne — rich and poor, young and old. Probably no two cooks make it the same way and just to prove it, here are several versions of this famous dish.

CHILI CON CARNE is tops as an American favorite in homes, schools and restaurants — wherever hungry people are looking for something good to eat. Chili powder is the all-in-one seasoning which gives savor to this dish.

"GUARDSMAN SERVICE" — An Exclusive Personalized Service for Your Finest Garments

DEAF MAN PERFECTS SMALLEST HEARING AID

Miami, Fla. — (Special) — A remarkable midget hearing aid has been perfected by a man who has been hard of hearing for nearly ten years.

This small aid has no dangling cords or separate transmitting units and represents a most unusual idea and design in a product for the hard of hearing.

It is especially made for those people who can hear but not understand. This new hearing instrument provides "ear-level" hearing with the wearer picking up speech, sounds, television, and radio at his ear rather than at a transmitter located in the wearer's clothing.

Due to the use of 4 transistors, the user cost is extremely low and the instrument weighs approximately 1/4-ounce. It is about the size of a sewing thimble.

Write to R. F. Monmonier, 1503 Alberca St., Coral Gables. You will receive full information without any obligation whatever. (Adv.)

St. Thomas Aquinas Goes Against Stranahan Tonight

Try, try again. That's the word for the ST. THOMAS AQUINAS football squad as it makes its seventh start of the season tonight at Fort Lauderdale against Stranahan High, still looking for its first victory of the year.

The Raiders dropped another one last week, to Palm Beach High, by a 25-0 nt.

Against Palm Beach, St. Thomas twice came up with a good series of plays, but it was not enough. Early in the first quarter, the Raiders held for four downs after Palm Beach had a first and goal situation on the five.

Then late in the first half, St. Thomas marched to the Palm Beach 10 but the attack faltered.

CARDINAL GIBBONS Saints will be a slight favorite to register their first victory of the season Saturday night when they face Chaminade High at the South Broward High field.

The game will mark the varsity debut of Chaminade as the Lions, in their first season of football competition, have restricted their previous games to junior varsity teams.

Gibbons, meanwhile, also in its first football campaign, has been playing a regular varsity schedule, despite the fact its squad is almost 100 per cent sophomores.

Gibbons lost last week to Miami Military Academy 68-12.

LASALLE HIGH SCHOOL, still learning about the game of football, gets another test this afternoon (Friday) as the Royals face Miami Military Academy in a 3:15 game at the Kaydets campus.

The Royals, who are 1-4 in their first season, took it on the chin last week from Clewiston, 59-0, and should be ready for another drubbing.

Miami Military whipped Cardinal Gibbons 68-12 last week.

The lone LaSalle victory of the year was a 12-6 decision over Gibbons.

FORT PIERCE Central Catholic played host to Pine Crest School on Wednesday night.

CRUSADERS WILL BE DECIDED UNDERDOG Newman Takes On Palm Beach High

WEST PALM BEACH — Cardinal Newman High, currently the hottest team in the diocese, goes for the big one tonight — Palm Beach High.

This is the first football meeting for Newman with their larger local rival and the Crusaders will go into the game a decided underdog despite their fine 5-1 record.

Newman gained its fifth victory last week at the expense of its diocesan foe, Fort Pierce Central Catholic, handing the Rams a one-sided 46-0 licking.

Dave McIntosh, the talented junior quarterback, keyed the Newman triumph with three touchdown passes and a 55-yard punt return for a score.

McIntosh's scores were on tosses of one yard to fullback Dan Shea, 23 to halfback Joe Griffin, and another one-yarder to Shea.

DAVID HISS

Columbus, Southwest Clash

With its ace halfback David Hiss primed and ready, Christopher Columbus High will take dead aim on its neighborhood rival Southwest High Saturday night at Central Stadium.

While the game with Catholic rival Archbishop Curley High ranks as the top traditional rival on the Columbus schedule, the Explorers would probably get more satisfaction out of a victory over Southwest High due to the close proximity of the two schools.

As yet, Columbus has never beaten the Eagles but the Explorers figure this could be the year.

With Hiss in top shape, he gained a remarkable 271 yards in last week's 20-20 tie with Miami Beach, and the squad in the best physical shape of recent weeks, the Explorers rate an even choice going into the game.

The Columbus attack, which relied so heavily on Hiss early in the season, has been opened up with the new-found passing combination of Ralph Spurlock to Jim Cox.

Curley Hi Faces Pompano

Archbishop Curley High, trying to figure out what has happened to its once highly-regarded offense, will meet Pompano Beach High Saturday night at Curtis Park in a Gold Coast Conference inter-division game.

The Knights were shut out last week for the first time this season, losing 19-0 to GCC Southern Division leader Key West.

The game had shaped up as the last chance for Curley to get back into the race as the Knights took a 2-2 league mark into the game.

However, the Curley attack failed to get off the ground, registering just 13 yards in rushing and 41 yards through the air on six pass completions in 19 attempts.

The Knights had three passes intercepted and lost one fumble to add to their woes.

Hungría a los Seis Años de la Intervención Soviética

Por J. J. GILBERT

El 4 de noviembre se cumplen seis años de la intervención soviética que aplastó con las armas el heroico levantamiento del pueblo húngaro.

Millares de refugiados húngaros, y cuantos simpatizan con su causa, elevan sus oraciones en este aniversario para que llegue pronto el día de la liberación de Hungría.

Los informados sobre la situación en ese país, centro-europeo calculan en unos 50.000 soldados las fuerzas soviéticas de ocupación. En varios campos de internamiento los presos políticos suman a 8.000. La Iglesia sufre en Hungría severas restricciones.

En noviembre de 1956, después de haber permitido a los húngaros que gozaran de unos breves días de libertad, Moscú lanzó sobre ellos una fuerza de 200.000 soldados, apoyados por 2500 tanques y una aviación poderosa.

Desde entonces han sido presentadas a la Asamblea General once resoluciones sobre el problema húngaro. Las principales piden la retirada de las tropas soviéticas, elecciones libres, supervisión internacional y restauración de los derechos humanos fundamentales.

Ultimamente ha sido distribuido a los miembros de la Asamblea General un documento presentado por Sir Leslie Munro, encargado en la ONU de la cuestión húngara, en el que se hace referencia a dichas demandas.

El representante de la República Popular Húngara en las Naciones Unidas, Karoly Csatorday, dijo en una réplica que tal documento falsea la situación húngara, y "omite deliberadamente... entre ciertos hechos significativos... la liquidación del desempleo y de la discriminación racial y religiosa".

Según el delegado comunista húngaro, la presencia de tropas soviéticas en su país se debe al derecho de "legítima defensa... y no tiene nada que ver con la situación interna de Hungría". Csatorday recomienda que la ONU se desentienda de la "cuestión húngara", con lo que según él la organización internacional ganaría en autoridad.

En septiembre último sólo 43 de los 108 miembros de la ONU votaron en favor de que se debatiera ese problema.

"Ante esto —ha dicho Mons. Bela Varga— disminuye la esperanza de que el asunto figure en la agenda de la Asamblea. Empero, los pueblos libres deben hacer cuanto puedan para que no sea encarpetado".

Mons. Bela Varga, ex presidente del Parlamento húngaro, preside una organización de exilados con sede en Nueva York.

Hace unas semanas la ONU deploró el "desacato continuo por parte de la Unión Soviética y del régimen actual húngaro, de las resoluciones de la Asamblea General sobre la situación en Hungría". (NC).

Apoyo Eclesiástico en Costa Rica al Gobierno Ante la Crisis Cubana

COSTA RICA... En ausencia de los obispos que asisten al Concilio, el Cabildo Metropolitano de San José apoyó al gobierno de Costa Rica en su adhesión a las medidas de Estados Unidos ante la amenaza en Cuba.

Pocos minutos antes del mensaje, el presidente Francisco Orlich había dicho al pueblo por radio y televisión: "No caben medias tintas. No somos comunistas. Queremos que nuestro continente y nuestros habitantes tengan derecho a pensar libremente, dentro del respeto a la dignidad humana."

"Estamos a sus órdenes en lo que tenga bien disponer", fue el mensaje del Cabildo al presidente Orlich.

De Aquí y De Allá...

NUEVA YORK, (NC)—La Federación Húngara-Norteamericana, compuesta por refugiados húngaros nacionalizados, pidió aquí que el 4 de noviembre próximo, sexto aniversario del levantamiento del pueblo húngaro contra la opresión soviética, se ofrezcan misas y oraciones por la "liberación de Hungría, y de los demás países cautivos de Europa Oriental, del yugo de los sin-Dios".

LEMA, (NC) — Los templos se han llenado en estos días de fieles que acuden a implorar por la paz del mundo, impelidos por la crisis de Cuba.

"O nos unimos o perecemos," escribe el diario limeño La Prensa. El Comercio, otro de los grandes matutinos, advierte: "Estamos con América y contra los imperialismos totalitarios; estamos también con la paz."

LOS CURSILLOS DE CRISTIANDAD se vienen practicando en Miami desde principios de este año y cada día es mayor el éxito que alcanzan entre los hombres de habla hispana de esta zona. En la foto un aspecto del último cursillo efectuado en el Monasterio Pasionista de North Palm Beach, destacándose el Padre Santa María alma de este movimiento en la Diócesis.

Cursillo de Cristianidad

Mi Mejor Recomendación a un Hombre

En las oficinas del Centro Hispano Católico el R. P. Primitivo Santamaría viene trabajando en la organización del próximo cursillo de Cristianidad, que se celebrará del 23 al 25 de noviembre en el monasterio de los Padres Pasionistas de North Palm Beach. Considerádoles de sumo interés ofrecemos a continuación las impresiones que en el doctor Carlos H. Obregón produjo su asistencia al último de estos cursillos para hombres de habla hispana de Miami. Esta es una de las mejores formas de comprobar los efectos que pueden alcanzarse participando en los Cursillos.

Por CARLOS H. OBREGON

Soy Cursillista y tengo mi plan. A esa conclusión llegué después de haber asistido al tercer Cursillo de Cristianidad, celebrado recientemente en North Palm Beach.

Desde la infancia, mi madre trató de encaminar mis pasos hacia el catolicismo. Pero qué lejos estaba de él. Confieso que en esa materia era un perfecto analfabeto y que practicaba sólo un simulacro de cristianismo.

La mayor parte de mis amigos y conocidos tenemos la convicción de que ser cristiano es cosa propia, muy subjetiva, y los demás que hagan lo que quieran. Con semejante postulado jamás habrá discípulos fieles a Cristo en cantidad o calidad.

En el Cursillo he comprendido que la misión del cristiano y su principal acción es la apostólica; es decir, hablar a los demás de la vida de Cristo y de su Iglesia; que se le conozca, que se le viva y que se le ame más.

En este momento de tanta incertidumbre en el exilio, de privaciones, de confusión, de dudas, lo único que puede poner fin a nuestras tribulaciones es acudir a Cristo. Y una de las mejores formas para encontrarle, para poderlo asimilar, para mejorar nuestras vidas, es acudir a los Cursillos de Cristianidad.

Mi asistencia la considero puramente providencial. Una llamada telefónica a un amigo para tratarle un asunto ajeno por completo, me facilitó la vía para ello. Me invitó a pasar tres días en unión de varios compañeros, me habló de una especie de retiro espiritual (en sí no es tal) y como tenía el tiempo disponible y necesitaba de unos momentos de oración y meditación, acepté gustoso.

Lo que allí escuché, aprendí y observé pertenece a lo sobrenatural. Al enfrentarme de nuevo con el medio ambiente, comprendí que era otra clase de hombre y cómo la Gracia de Dios alcanza a todos los que le escuchan y se le entregan. Se me han disipado todas las asperezas que veía en mi camino. He conseguido trabajo, la paz y tranquilidad en mi familia y hogar; pero lo más sorprendente de todo esto es que hemos aprendido a poner nuestro talento, prestigio, honrría al servicio de Cristo y de su Iglesia; a vivir en gracia, a comunicar a todos las verdades de nuestra Salvación espiritual como labor apostólica y a obedecer a nuestro director espiritual.

En estos momentos en que la humanidad por momentos parece perder la visión de Cristo, considero que la mejor recomendación que se puede hacer a un hombre preocupado es que no deje de asistir a estos Cursillos, para despertar la fe adormecida y recibir la luz de la Gracia y con ella la paz y la tranquilidad que tanto necesitamos y deseamos.

LOS PADRES DEL CONCILIO están dedicando sus primeros trabajos a la Liturgia, como parte de la renovación interna de la Iglesia. En la foto un aspecto de la Basílica de San Pedro durante el Concilio.

SIGNO PROMISORIO DEL CONCILIO

Estudian la Renovación de la Liturgia

CIUDAD DEL VATICANO, (NC). — El Concilio Vaticano ha dedicado sus primeros trabajos a la liturgia, porque precisamente afecta a la renovación interna de la Iglesia, meta principal de la asamblea ecuménica.

Tal es el reciente comunicado oficial de la Oficina de Prensa del Concilio.

En la cuarta sesión plenaria participaron en los debates 21 Padres del Concilio, para discutir un proyecto que consta de prefacio y ocho capítulos sobre la sagrada liturgia.

La liturgia representa el culto público y oficial que la Iglesia tributa a Dios en nombre del pueblo cristiano; su rito central es la Santa Misa, abarca también los sacramentos, el oficio divino y los sacramentales.

El proyecto en cuestión propone los principios generales para una renovación de la liturgia y su fomento entre los fieles, tras explicar el valor que tiene la vida litúrgica en la Iglesia, tanto en el nivel diocesano como en el parroquial.

Otro de sus capítulos se refiere al misterio de la Divina Eucaristía, la Santa Misa y la celebración de los Sacramentos. El proyecto trata además de los sacramentales (como el agua bendita, el agua bautismal, los Agnus Dei las bendiciones y los exorcismos), y llega a proponer una revisión del ritual.

El cuarto capítulo se refiere al Oficio Divino y a otras oraciones; el quinto, al año litúrgico y el correspondiente calendario; el sexto, a los ornamentos y vasos sagrados; y los dos últimos acápites, a la música sagrada y al arte sacro.

La sesión de estudios comenzó con una misa que ofició Mns. Casimiro Morcillo González, arzobispo de Zaragoza, España, y miembro del secretario general del Concilio. Presidió las sesiones el cardenal Norman Gilroy, arzobispo de Sydney en Australia. Introduce el tema el car-denal Arcadio Larraona OMF, presidente de la Comisión Litúrgica.

El comunicado de prensa expresa que "la obra de la Redención, prometida por Dios en las Sagradas Escrituras y realizada por Cristo, se continúa en la Iglesia principalmente a través de la liturgia, del Sacrificio de la Cruz

Renovación Litúrgica

"Obra del Espíritu Santo"

ROMA, (NC). — Las discusiones que el Concilio Ecuménico inicia sobre la sagrada liturgia son la culminación de medio siglo de esfuerzos por renovar el culto público de la Iglesia, opina un liturgista consagrado.

Al hacer historia del movimiento litúrgico contemporáneo, el Pbro. Federico R. McManus, consultor de la Comisión Litúrgica del Concilio y profesor de la Universidad Católica de América en Washington, declara aquí que ese movimiento mereció de Pío XII el ser llamado "un signo de la obra del Espíritu Santo en la Iglesia."

Sus frutos más visibles han sido la participación consciente e intensa del pueblo en la celebración de la Santa Misa, la mayor frecuencia de los sacramentos, y el aumento de la piedad popular. Pero en el fondo hay algo más, una riqueza de vida interior en los fieles, una consagración de la mente y de la voluntad al servicio de Dios, y esto pese a las turbulencias del siglo, agrega el sacerdote.

En Roma y en otras ciudades del mundo son comunes las Misas vespertinas, junto con las Misas diálogadas. Y crece el número de altares que miran hacia el pueblo fiel. El movimiento tiene por fin alcanzar a más fieles en la liturgia, y a lograr una participación más consciente de ellos.

Quizás más que cambios radicales, lo que anhelamos, dice el Padre McManus, es un mayor esfuerzo de parte del clero y los educadores por enperpetuamente renovado sobre el altar; y por medio de los sacramentos y el ofrecimiento cotidiano de las oraciones en común."

Más que una simple colección de ritos y normas, "la liturgia es como la fuente de que fluye la gracia, y el faro al que se dirigen las almas," concluye.

señar al pueblo cómo enriquecer su vida interior mediante la plena participación en el culto público a Dios.

En todo esto se inspiran los Padres del Concilio para sus discusiones, de las cuales han de salir promisorias normas; recuérdense si no, la reforma de los oficios de Semana Santa, efectuada en 1956, y (para América Latina), la publicación de rituales bilingües donde se propone una instrucción pastoral más intensa sobre los sacramentos.

2 de Noviembre: Día de los Fieles Difuntos

Por si Nos Hemos Olvidado . . .

RIO DE JANEIRO (NC) — Un centenar de señoras del Movimiento de la Mujer Brasileña pro Democracia protestaron ante el ministerio de relaciones contra el neutralismo del primer ministro del Brasil en la crisis cubana.

Acompañó al grupo una nutrida delegación de la Vanguardia Universitaria Católica.

El primer ministro Hermes Lima, que es canciller interino, había saludado el día anterior a un grupo de estudiantes comunistas en el Palacio de Itamarati.

El funcionario había defendido el derecho de Cuba a hacer experiencias con sus regímenes propios.

Cuando esta vez habló a las señoras, fue interrumpido por la llegada de un grupo de choque de los comunistas que amenazaban con disolver la manifestación. La policía logró que la entrevista terminara sin incidentes.

El Poder Ejecutivo del Brasil sigue sustentado la política de libre determinación y no intervención, y se manifiesta contra la aplicación de la fuerza militar en Cuba, pese a lo resuelto por la OEA. Pero en los medios religiosos, culturales y hasta políticos, se manifiesta un franco repudio a esta posición oficial.

El profesor D. Vilhena de Moraes, historiador católico y alto funcionario del Ministerio de Justicia, declaró que la medida del presidente de Estados Unidos John F. Kennedy "representa la defensa de la civilización cristiana amenazada, ante una criminal inercia, por las fuerzas instables del comunismo."

Es bueno que Brasil recuerde, agrega el periodista católico, que los regímenes comunistas "de Rusia, China y Cuba han lesionado gravemente los derechos del hombre."

"Hay valores que valen todos los riesgos," dice después Corcao. El presidente Kennedy "pecaría gravemente si dejase que los totalitarismos marcharan con impunidad hacia la conquista del mundo y el avasallamiento de toda la población del planeta."

Por su parte el jurisconsulto y catedrático de la Facultad de Derecho en Río, profesor Gondum Neto, afirmó que ha llegado el momento de definirse entre la libertad y el totalitarismo.

"Brasil está al lado de la civilización occidental. El pueblo y las fuerzas armadas sabrán compensar la actitud de los malos brasileños, que no se sienten capacitados para cumplir las obligaciones internacionales que el Brasil asumió en defensa del continente americano y de la civilización cristiana."

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, (NC). — La central sindical Reum Novarum pidió que la Organización de Estados Americanos intervenga colectivamente en Cuba, de acuerdo con el tratado de Río de Janeiro.

En una asamblea de la confederación de trabajadores cristianos, que agrupa al 90 por ciento de los sindicatos de Costa Rica, se aprobó la resolución siguiente:

"Pedir que la OEA cumpla los acuerdos suscritos en Río de Janeiro, que intervenga colectivamente por la acción de las armas a fin de garantizar que el pueblo cubano, sojuzgado bajo el terror y las bayonetas chino-soviéticas, pueda disfrutar ampliamente de la paz, las libertades y los derechos de autodeterminación que le han sido arrebatados, y que preste a los cubanos asistencia técnica militar y armas para que puedan luchar por la reconquista de la libertad y la verdadera soberanía para su patria.

"Comunicar este acuerdo a todas las organizaciones sindicales libres del continente, a fin de que las mismas presten apoyo a esta petición, y que a su vez lo soliciten de las demás organizaciones democráticas de América."

Cómo ven en Bolivia lo de Cuba

LA PAZ, (NC). — Al comentar la situación de Cuba, el diario católico Presencia expresa la esperanza de que la humanidad se libre de una nueva matanza.

Es torpe, agrega su editorial, "la actitud de quienes piensan que el Castrismo quedará ahogado en sangre."

Una posición tal es no sólo criminal sino suicida. Jamás podremos cantar la alegría de la victoria "si la causa de la democracia triunfa por la fuerza sola de las armas."

"Tenemos que hacer todo lo posible para evitar la destrucción y la muerte."

CIUDAD DE MEXICO, (NC). — Aunque hablen de paz, las doctrinas materialistas sólo pueden llevar a la guerra, comenta el director del Secretariado Social Mexicano a la crisis cubana.

"Contrasta el clima de guerra del mundo temporal, con el clima de paz del mundo del espíritu que se reúne en el Concilio Vaticano," declaró a NC el Pbro. Pedro Velázquez, sociólogo de nota y secretario además de la Confederación Interamericana de Acción Social Católica.

"Sólo el Papa ha dicho la verdad cuando habla del desarme de los espíritus, que será convicción general de los pueblos cuando los hombres reconozcan que sobre ellos hay un Padre común y que todos somos hermanos," agrega el sacerdote.

El Padre Velázquez opina que al precipitarse los acontecimientos en el continente, "no podemos ser neutrales en el conflicto actual ni refugiarnos en la actitud egoísta de quien contempla impávido el sufrimiento de otros pueblos."

El mismo diario, en un comentario del día anterior, fustigaba al gobierno de Bolivia por su neutralismo.

"La tragedia que sufre el pueblo cubano no debe ser encubierta por un supuesto respeto al principio de "no intervención". El pueblo cubano merece la solidaridad de los otros pueblos de la América Latina."

Por su parte de la Radio Fides opina que "la actitud de Kennedy, aunque tardía merece aplauso por lo enérgica". Quizás, agrega, logre así poner freno al avance del imperialismo ruso.

God Love You

Most Reverend
Fulton J. Sheen

How different are the works of God and man! The works of God are done only with much difficulty and suffering; the works of man are wrought easily and mechanically. This is brought out in the way Sacred Scripture describes two golden objects: the golden candlestick, which illumined the sanctuary of the tabernacle in the Old Testament, and the golden calf, made by Aaron and the people while God spoke to Moses atop the mountain.

The golden candlestick, which was the symbol of Christ the Light of the World, was to be of "beaten gold." The fact that the pure gold had to be hammered foreshadowed the sufferings of Our Lord who was "beaten with many stripes" on our behalf. This is in striking contrast with the golden calf, which was cast out of a mold and required no beating, no crucifixion, no suffering, but only the pouring into a mold.

Those who serve Christ, the Light of the World, and those who serve an idol, whatever it be, seem to be the same on the outside, as both the candlestick and the calf were golden. But they differ on the inside, in the manner in which they were made. One passes through suffering, which transforms the inner self; the other is simply molded from the outside by public opinion or the spirit of the times.

There is not a church or a school, a leprosarium or a hospital, a catechist or a nursery in any mission land which is not made of beaten gold. Someone had to suffer to bring Christ the Light of the World to a person or to a place. Sunday after Sunday in this "God Love You" column, we invite our fellow Catholics to help prepare the candlestick of Christ the Light of the World through acts of self-denial and mortification. But it is so easy to get money for a golden calf, and so hard to get it for a candlestick of beaten gold!

Would you not set aside at least a penny a day for the Holy Father and the Missions of the world? Then, at Christmas, send us the pennies that you have saved. This would not be beaten gold, but at least it would be beaten brass, and the Missions will be grateful for it. Thank you!

GOD LOVE YOU to Mrs. E. P. for $1 "I made this selling beans, but I wish I had thousands and thousands to send to help the homeless and hungry." . . . to Mrs. E.A.S. for $9 "Please accept this as an insurance policy for protection of the men who are building a house on our property." . . . to M. and H.D. for $50 "Last year on our anniversary we sent you a gift for the Missions. We couldn't think of a better way to celebrate again this year." . . . to L.M.Y. for $1 "When I read about the poor of mission lands, I know I have been blessed although I am not rich."

"As a result of Bill's fine answers, I decided to look into the Catholic Religion."

SHARING OUR TREASURE

This Convert Was Won Over By Catholic's Fine Answers

By FR. JOHN A. O'BRIEN

Through the sacrament of Confirmation a Catholic receives the graces that enable him to be an apostle and win souls for Christ.

This is the truth which Bishop John C. Cody of London, Canada, stressed when he launched a diocesan-wide campaign for souls. "Once we have attained spiritual adulthood in Confirmation," said Bishop Cody, "ours is the perpetual obligation of giving birth to Christ in the hearts of our fellow men."

How can you do this? By bearing witness to the truth and life-giving, soul-saving power of your holy Faith at every suitable opportunity.

Because so many Catholics observe a clam-like silence in regard to their religion, they pass up many opportunities of giving birth to Christ in the hearts of others.

The fruitfulness of witnessing for Christ is illustrated in the conversion of C. Patrick Patton of Kansas City, Mis.

"I was reared a Campbellite," he related, "and attended church and Sunday school regularly. Indeed I used to go out and talk to people about their spiritual life."

"Though I married a Catholic and our six children were raised Catholic, I remained a Campbellite. As Catholics rarely speak about their religion, the misconceptions about their Church, which I had from childhood, remained with me."

"Then one day a good friend of mine, William L. Kunz, a convert, said to me, 'Pat, did ever think of joining the Catholic Church?' I answered with an emphatic no, telling him that I couldn't see myself worshipping statues. Bill chuckled and said that was the idea he also had about Catholics when he was a Protestant."

"He then explained that Catholics honor statues and pictures of Christ and the saints, but worship only God. Images of Christ and the saints help one to focus his attention in prayer and thus prevent distractions.

"Bill pointed out that Americans have statues of their great statesmen and heroes in public places and honor them. No one accuses us of being idolaters."

"His answer made sense to me. Then I told him that I preferred to pray directly to God and not to the Blessed Virgin. Bill explained that Catholics are encouraged to direct most of their prayers to God, but that it is appropriate to pray to Mary and the other saints and thus enlist their intercession."

"Of themselves they have no power to aid us, but God is pleased to receive their prayers along with our own by virtue of the Communion of Saints."

"Though I had often said the Apostles Creed, in which I professed to believe in the Communion of Saints, I didn't really understand what it meant."

"Bill explained that the members of Christ's Church, whether on earth, in heaven, or in purgatory, are all members of Christ's Mystical Body and are all capable of assisting one another by their prayers and good works. 'We the many,' says St. Paul, 'are one body in Christ, but severally members one of another' (Romans 12:5)."

TAKES INSTRUCTION

"As a result of Bill's fine answers, I decided to look into the Catholic religion. I took a course of instruction from Father James Vance at St. Louis Church and soon discovered that the Catholic Church was founded by Christ and authorized by Him to teach all nations."

"I was received into Christ's true Church and enjoy a serenity and happiness unknown before. After 35 years of marriage I finally made it — thanks to Bill who started me on the way. May God bless and reward him!"

The Question Box

Non-Denominational Prayers In Schools

By MSGR. J. D. CONWAY

Q. Several weeks ago you evaded a question which concerned the Supreme Court decision on a non-denominational prayer in public schools. You promised to answer it "some other time — maybe." The writer of that question has the same thoughts on this subject as I have. Please reconsider and answer soon. This is a matter of much concern to me and to many others. I am married to a non-Catholic and he called the public schools Protestant schools one day. It might have been a slip of the tongue; I don't know. But the point is that they seem to be Protestant when non-denominational prayers are said there. It seems that we Catholics have a right to stop this Protestant infiltration in the public schools. Please clarify for me.

A. Your question reminds me of an article I read a few months ago — probably in America — by Father North, S. J., a famous biblical scholar. As usual I cannot put my hands on it now that I need it. But Father North's main theme was that we Catholics are as much to blame as anyone else in secularizing the public schools. We have protested every Our Father which ended with the ancient Greek Catholic conclusion: "For Thine is the kingdom the power and the glory forever and ever." And especially we have opposed every reading from the Bible when the King James version — or any other "unauthorized" version was used. Thus we have strained out the gnats of sectarianism and left the monster of secularism to flourish.

The problem of religion in the schools of a pluralistic society is a complicated and touchy one, and I do not propose to solve it here. But I do maintain that the solution should not be one evolved by process of logic from sweeping principles. There is not even any one solution which should be sought. There is no solution which will please all the people perfectly. We must seek a "mode of living," based on compromise, tolerance, charity, and good sense.

It is for this reason that I maintain that the question of the Regents' prayer should never have been accepted for trial by the Supreme Court. We all know that the venerable Justices have consistently refused to hear other cases, involving rights much more fundamental, simply because they know their inevitable decision would shake the general harmony of long-accepted situations.

Arguments about prayer in school are something like domestic squabbles. Litigation only acerbates them. They should be settled within the walls of the local community — or at most by arbitration. And if belligerent minority groups persist in carrying their picayune complaints to the Supreme Court, and if that august body continues to accommodate them, the indignant majority is apt to rebel, with demands for constitutional amendments which may be very unfortunate for religious tolerance in our land.

I recognize that they have complaints, and that we the Christian majority are bound in justice and charity to give them consideration. It is not easy for a Jew, a Moslem, or an atheist to live in a Christian community. But the solution does not lie in stamping out all public manifestations of Christianity. And when that solution is sought — as it is being sought, bit by bit — religious harmony will never result. Prejudice will be intensified, and quite possibly minority rights will be infringed still further.

I have no substantial concern about the Regents' prayer, or about any other forms of emasculated worship which may seek tolerance in the schools. I am not even greatly concerned about the daily reading of a few verses from the Bible. These are only symbols. What does concern me is that we are supposed to have split personalities, or two faces — a religious one for church, and maybe for home, in cases where domestic commitments are unified; and the other for the school, the forum and the senate. Can we split our culture? Teach all but those religious elements which have permeated every phase of it? What shall we do with history, and sociology, and philosophy? Present only a distorted skeleton of them?

Some of our state universities pride themselves on bursting every barrier of human knowledge; but carefully avoid theology — around which our western civilization has centered its thinking since the time of the ancient Greeks.

Group prayers can easily be eliminated from the class room; but if all religion is eliminated our schools are not teaching honestly. They are not imparting truth about our culture, our history, the goals and guide lines of our lives. And if they eliminate the Bible from study it is much worse — culturally — than if they eliminated Shakespeare and Caesar combined.

What are we going to do about it? There must be more tolerance, more honest, charitable effort to seek a way of educating our children in accordance with our traditions and our principles, without violating rights. But it will never be done by taking every petty issue to the Supreme Court.

Have I again evaded the question? Well then, let me say it succinctly: better Protestant than pagan! The positive values of Protestantism are mostly derived from our own. Surely it irritates us to see the majority smugly — and unconsciously — adopting the public schools as its own. But non-Christian minorities are probably irritated even more when we take for granted that the public schools are Christian. But we of the minorities had better take long second thought before we campaign to eliminate Protestant encroachments, lest in rooting them out we pull out with them the good grain of all religion.

ERITREA: AN UNFRIENDLY WIND

WHERE'S ERITREA? A thorny splinter of mountain-and-desert running along the Red Sea in northeastern Africa. "Mare Erythraeum"—so the ancient Romans called the Red Sea and so Eritrea found its name . . . After World War II, this former Italian colony with its gentle people was federated with Ethiopia under Emperor Haile Selassie. Sometimes called the "lost province," Eritrea's inhabitants are very poor and have few educational opportunities . . . From Teronqua Elsberet, FATHER CUBRON UORE sends his poignant plea: "it hurts one to celebrate Mass in such a ramshackle structure." Constructed of fragile native materials, this little Church has been repeatedly shattered by the seasonal heavy rains . . . After each big windstorm the people of Teronqua Elsberet must get to work putting back the part of the crude building that has blown away . . . Will you make the sacrifice—any amount—to help FATHER UORE make his Church a more worthy place for the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass? Walls and roof to hold back unfriendly winds will cost $2,500 . . . But the parishioners of Teronqua Elsberet have never seen so much money. Just 500 persons sending $5 for Father Uore will make his wish come true . . . What a wonderful memorial for a loved one!

The Holy Father's Mission Aid for the Oriental Church

IN MEMORY OF GRANDMOTHER

Christopher S. and his brother, Danny, write: "We would like to send you all the coins in our bank so you may forward the money to the Archbishop of Dmeine, Syria, for his new church. I am seven . . . and my brother is five. Our grandmother went to God in March. She belonged to the Melkite Rite and we offer this in her name . . . OUR REPLY: "This is a very precious gift given in memory of your grandmother. It will reap many spiritual blessings because of your thoughtfulness . . . Her name and your own will be remembered in the Masses and prayers of our missionaries." . . . The coins in their bank amounted to $11.70, a real sacrifice. Yet their offering will bring Christ to the natives of Syria, their grandmother's former home. That thought should make Christopher and Danny very happy . . . Maybe you have someone you would like to remember by a memorial gift. We have so many requests for schools (cost: $2,500), clinics and chapels. Why not send a STRINGLESS GIFT to be designated by us for a most needed project!

MEMO FOR NOVEMBER

THE SOULS IN PURGATORY are remembered especially in your prayers during this month of November. Why not send your Mass offerings for this intention to our missionaries? For some of our priests, these offerings are the sole income.

Islandwide Mission Set

SAN JUAN, P.R. (NC) — A pastoral letter issued by the Puerto Rican Hierarchy has called for a concentration of "all apostolic activities" throughout the island for the success of an islandwide mission to be held early in 1963.

The pastoral, signed by Archbishop James P. Davis of San Juan, and Bishops James E. McManus, C.S.S.R., of Ponce; Alfred D. Mendez, C.S.C., of Arecibo, and Luis Aponte, Auxiliary of San Juan, asserted the mission will be "the greatest event in the religious life of Puerto Rico."

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

By: Gaither D. Peden, Jr.

"Every man is the architect of his own fortune . . ."

To a large degree this old English proverb is right. Life's foundation is patterned in childhood and the framework of early adulthood sets the stage for each life span as it evolves.

If a careful, sensible and honorable blueprint for life is initiated, and if the plan is followed to the best of one's ability, it is reasonable to expect a fair share of good fortune along the way.

This is another thought, but those bereaved can expect more than a fair share of comfort and understanding. The burden of loss can be lessened by placing all necessary details in care of a complete service such as is available at G. D. ## Michelangelo's Masterpiece To Be Remounted In Vatican

VATICAN CITY (NC) — The famed Pieta sculpture, scheduled to be on exhibit at the New York World's Fair in 1964, will have a new look here when it is remounted in St. Peter's basilica.

Michelangelo's masterpiece, which depicts a sorrowful Mary holding the dead Christ in her lap, has been removed from the pedestal where it had been placed in 1749 for cleaning and examination in the Vatican Museum restoration laboratories.

Redig de Campos, inspector for medieval and modern art and director of the laboratories, said examination showed that the statue had been tipped so that the figure of Mary was also vertical while the figure of Christ was horizontal.

When it is remounted, said De Campos, the base will stand on its original angle, a difference of about three and a half inches in inclination, so that Mary will appear as slightly lifting the figure of her Son instead of merely holding His body inertly.

When the sculpture is remounted in the chapel it will again be fixed above the altar on the rear wall.

However, it will be about four feet lower than before and it will be inclined slightly forward so that viewers may have a better view of the face of Christ.

Society Will Meet

RIVIERA BEACH — "First Aid," will be the topic of Mrs. Joyce Parker, American Red Cross instructor when the Altar Society of St. Francis of Assisi parish meets at 8 p.m., Tuesday, Nov. 6, in the school cafeteria.

Previously the mounting of the statue on the wall made it impossible to see the features of the face which are among the most beautiful aspects of the statue.

Michelangelo carved the Pieta from 1496 to 1501. It was his first major work and was executed for the tomb of the French Cardinal Jean de Bilheres. In the following 400 years it has been moved six times.
