

WORLD KNEELS IN PRAYER FOR POPE JOHN

A world on its knees stormed Heaven this week with prayers for Pope John XXIII.

Death was jousting with the Holy Father, but hope remained alive that the beloved Pontiff's strong heart and vigorous constitution might withstand the critical assaults of his grave illness.

Pope John was described as resting in his bedroom at the Vatican "in humble and serene recollection, in conformity with the will of God." He himself voiced hope that prayers said in his behalf would include the intention that if he died, his death would win blessings for the ecumenical council and for the cause of world peace.

The outpouring of prayers came from the faithful and from non-Catholics alike, throughout the nation and throughout the world.

In the Diocese of Miami, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll urged that the people redouble their prayers for the Supreme Pontiff and directed that a special prayer, "Pro Papa," be inserted in daily Masses as long as the gravity of the Pope's illness continues. This prayer, known as an Oratio Imperata, is used only on occasions of unusual significance or urgency.

"The sad news of the grave illness of our Holy Father, Pope John, urges us to beg Almighty God if it be His holy will to spare him to the Church and to the world for a long time to come," Bishop Carroll said.

On Wednesday, May 29, the Pope heard Mass, as he had Tuesday, and again received Holy Communion.

The Wednesday communique said the Pontiff had spent "a night of quiet rest," during which he had had "no need for assistance." At 10 a.m. a "distinct improvement" was noted in his general condition, and the bulletin stated that "even in the acute moments of the crisis, the Pope never suffered (mental) absence or confusion."

Earlier in the week, the Pope's physicians had said that his health was showing improvement after he had rallied from severe internal bleeding during the night of May 24-25.

The bleeding was allied with an abnormal growth in his stomach, first existence of which was made public by the Vatican May 28 in a bulletin published in L'Osservatore Romano, Vatican City daily newspaper.

It said that Pope John had been suffering from the ailment "for about a year," and identified the trouble as "gastric heteroplasia." This is defined medically as "the replacement of normal cells by abnormal tissue" or as "malposition of normal cells."

A spokesman at the National Cancer Institute in Bethesda, Md., said that heteroplasia is a term which is not used in American medicine and "evidently describes a condition for which we would use some other term." He said it could indicate cancer, but also could be used as a general term for any abnormal growth, malignant or benign.

The 81-year-old Pope had hemorrhaged critically during the night of May 24-25, and Vatican sources indicated that he had had further attacks of internal bleeding. But the bulletin of May 28 said that the hemorrhaging had been reduced. It said also that it was "compensated for by the treatment prescribed" — indicating that he had been receiving blood transfusions.

Three physicians were with the Pope from 10 a.m. until noon on Tuesday. They are Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, his personal physician, who had been summoned from his home in Bologna several days earlier; Dr. Pietro Mazzoni of Rome, who had remained near the papal apartment for almost a week; and Dr. Peitro Valdoni, a leading Italian surgeon.

New High School For Girls Announced For SW Dade

A new Diocesan high school for girls will be established in the southwest area of Dade County, it was announced this week by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll.

It will be named Lourdes High School and will become a companion institution to the Christopher Columbus High School for boys in the same district.

Plans to start classes in September for freshmen only are now being made by Msgr. John O'Dowd, V.F., South Dade dean, and Father Joseph H. O'Shea, superintendent of diocesan high schools, in meetings with the pastors of all the parishes in southwest Dade.

It is expected that the student body to be selected from eighth grade graduates will begin classes at the beginning of the next semester in temporary quarters at the Epiphany school in South Miami. Dates for registration will be announced later.

Sisters of the Immaculate Heart will be in charge of the new Lourdes High School.

Arrangements will be made meanwhile to provide new and permanent facilities for the school at a site centrally located for all southwest Dade parishes.

Lourdes High School for girls actually will be the 24th high school in the Miami Diocesan school system, including temporary schools being conducted for refugee boys.

Dinner June 12 To Close Development Fund Drive

Officially closing the 1963 Diocesan Development Fund Campaign, more than 250 priests and laymen will be guests of Bishop Coleman F. Carroll at a dinner to be held on Wednesday, June 12, at 7 p.m., at the St. John Vianney Seminary.

Present for the occasion will be all pastors of the Diocese; members of the Lay Advisory Board; regional directors and all parish chairmen in the DDF drive.

Stuart Patton, general chairman of the 1963 campaign, will speak. In addition to thanking the priests and laymen for what they had accomplished through their hard work, he is expected to comment on the marked improvement shown this year as a result of the increased interest in the DDF by many of the parishes.

At a meeting last week with Bishop Carroll, Mr. Patton and Frank Mackle, chairman of the Lay Advisory Board, Father Neil Flemming, campaign coordinator for the Bishop, reported that of the $1,368,070.72 reported to date, cash payments already totaled $941,531.33.

The Diocesan Development Fund office has pointed out that payments on pledges will continue to be received after the formal closing of the drive and that pledge payments as well as new contributions can be made at any time, since the DDF office is open every week throughout the year. The address is Diocesan Development Fund Office, Chancery Building, 6301 Biscayne Blvd., Miami

State is his closest collaborator, conferred with the Pontiff both before and after the doctors' visit.

It was to him that Pope John said that prayers in his behalf should include the intentions of the ecumenical council, and the peace of mankind.

NORMAL AUDIENCE

The bulletin published by L'Osservatore Romano referred to both the Cardinal's and the doctors' visits. It said:

"Today, Tuesday, the Holy Father heard Mass celebrated in a study adjoining his bedroom and received Holy Communion, as is done when the Holy Father cannot celebrate Mass himself. At 8 a.m. he received Amleto Giovanni Cardinal Cicognani, his Secretary of State, who was with him for almost half an hour in normal audience.

"The Pope's day was spent in rest and in humble and serene recollection in conformity with the will of God.

"Those attending him noted an edifying effusion of peace and of trust which radiates from the august person, desirous of the closest union with God and of offering every sacrifice for the Church and for all his children.

"The Cardinal Secretary of State, who was received a second time at 12:15, had told the Pope during the morning audience: 'Most Holy Father, the whole world is praying for Your Holiness.'

"The Pope with a loving smile and after a brief silence replied: 'Since the whole world is praying for the sick Pope, it is very natural that this supplication should be given an intention: If God wants the sacrifice of the Pope's life, may it help win copious blessings for the ecumenical council, for the holy Church, and for mankind which aspires to peace.

"If on the contrary it pleases God to prolong this pontifical service, may this help to sanctify the soul of the Pope and of all who are working and suffering with him to spread the reign of our Lord both in the ancient and newer areas of Christianity and in the whole world."

NEW INTENSITY

"The illness of the Holy Father is being followed by Doctors Gasbarrini, Valdoni and Mazzoni. The hemorrhagic phenomena due to the gastric heteroplasia from which the Pope has suffered for about a year and which, after several months of arrest, had recurred with new intensity in the past few days, are now attenuated and the organic consequences linked with them are, up to today, limited and compensated for by the treatment prescribed."

The Pope's physicians had said earlier in the week that the Pope's health was showing improvement.

L'Osservatore Romano reporting May 27 on the findings of Drs. Gasbarrini and Mazzoni, said that during the evening of Sunday, May 26, Pope John's health "showed improvement in its general condition, above all subjectively." The communique continued: "Concerning this improvement, His Holiness' doctors spoke of further improvement in the illness today, Monday."

The "subjective" improvement mentioned was authoritatively explained as meaning that Pope John was feeling better and less weak, and that the physicians were maintaining reserve pending further study. The Pope was expected to recover if he could get adequate rest.

Observers further interpreted the Osservatore report to mean that the Pope's loss of blood had been terminated.

The further study being undertaken by Drs. Gasbarrini and Mazzoni concerned the origin of the hemorrhages the Pope had suffered during the preceding days, it was learned. The doctors felt that the internal bleeding stemmed from causes other than the "gastric disturbances" the Pope had been subject to, and were seeking other possible causes. No further information on the diagnostic procedure was immediately available.

GRAVEST CRISIS

It was learned that the hemorrhaging suffered by Pope John on the night of May 24-25 was the gravest crisis he had yet undergone. Because of this bleeding his physicians insisted that he not further exhaust himself by going to his apartment window for his usual Sunday noonday blessing.

It was because of the Pontiff's failure to appear at his window that the Vatican press office issued a special communique concerning the gravity of his illness.

It said:

"The Holy Father, contrary to his custom on Sundays, will not appear today in the window of his private studio to pray with the faithful gathered in St. Peter's square and to give them his blessing.

GASTRIC AILMENT

"His doctors have advised His Holiness to rest and to limit all physical activity as much as possible.

"The gastric ailment which the Pope has suffered since last fall, and which in November resulted in an acute condition of anemia, after a period of medical care and of relative quiescence, has again in recent been very much moved to hear of the applause and cheers in his honor on the part of the people in Frascati.

Cardinal Cicognani again visited the Pope on Monday morning to discuss pressing business. About noon on Monday, Dr. Gasbarrini, too, called on the Pope. He remained in the papal apartment for almost an hour.

UNABLE TO SAY MASS

Unable to offer Mass himself, the Pope was given Holy Communion. Despite rumors to the contrary published in some Italian papers, it was learned that this was as a normal spiritual comfort, not as the Viaticum of the dying.

Many Vatican offices, especially those dealing with the press and radio, were being swamped with telephone inquiries from all over the world about the Pope's health.

L'Osservatore Romano reported May 27 that "many telegrams from sovereigns, heads of state, chiefs of government, foreign ministers" and hundreds of other dignitaries — including many cardinals and bishops — were flooding into the Vatican voicing good wishes for the Pope.

SUNDAY COMMUNIQUE

The Sunday press communique indicating the gravity of the Pope's condition followed by two days another and more optimistic statement. The Vatican press office had said on May 24: "In competent Vatican circles there is again confirmation of a marked improvement in the condition of the Holy Father, which is defined as satisfactory. One continues to note a progressive rallying of the Pope, who has appeared very fatigued in past days."

Apprehension about the Pontiff had grown when his weekly Wednesday general audience of May 22 was canceled less than an hour before it was scheduled to begin.

The Pope appeared, however, at his apartment window overlooking St. Peter's square and told the disappointed crowd of about 10,000 persons that "It is still St. Peter's, whether inside or out." He then led the recitation of the Regina Coeli and gave his blessing to the crowd. He looked drawn, but his voice was firm.

'SALUTI, SALUTI'

In his impromptu appearance to the crowd, Pope John also referred to the feast of the Ascension, the following day. He said:

"We hurry behind the one who has ascended into heaven and not being able to follow Him, we remain on earth in His Holy Church and we imitate the Apostles who gathered together and implored the Holy Spirit. You just heard it, and you ask it each day, each of you in the name of the Father and of the Son and of the Holy Spirit."

Then he concluded with the Italian words "Saluti, saluti" — "Greetings, greetings." The crowd responded with cries of "Viva il Papa" — "Long live the Pope." On Ascension Thursday itself, the Pope reappeared briefly at his apartment window at noon, but left quickly after reciting the Regina Coeli and giving his blessing.

No Change In Plans For Kennedy Visit

WASHINGTON (NC) — President Kennedy sent a message to Pope John XXIII, expressing hope for his speedy recovery.

The White House did not make the President's message public, but earlier disclosed there had been no change made in the President's plans for visiting Italy and also the Pope.

VATICAN PAVILION Now Being Erected on the 1964 N.Y. World's Fairgrounds Is Shown In This Drawing

UNITE TO ERECT VATICAN PROJECT AT NEW YORK WORLD'S FAIR

Diocese, U.S. Catholics To Build Pavilion

The Diocese of Miami is joining with all Catholics throughout the United States in sponsoring the Vatican Pavilion at the 1964 New York World's Fair.

Estimated to cost about $3 million, the pavilion is now under construction at the fairgrounds where it is estimated it will be viewed by more than 70 million people next year. The Bishops of the United States have accepted the responsibility of its construction.

"The Church Is Christ Living In the World" will be the overall theme of the Vatican Pavilion. It is the intention of the Vatican to point up the relevancy of the Church in the new era and to emphasize the spiritual growth in a setting characterized by material expansion.

TO EXHIBIT 'PIETA'

Focal point of interest in the exhibits will be Michaelangelo's famed "Pieta" sculpture. Pope John XXIII has given his permission for this great art masterpiece to be removed from St. Peter's basilica and shipped to New York so that it might be viewed by the American public. "Pieta" depicts a sorrowful Mary holding the dead Christ. The statue was completed in the year 1500 when Michaelangelo was only 25 years old. He had worked on it more than five years. It was his first major work and was executed for the tomb of the French Cardinal de Bilheres. In the following 400 years it has been moved six times.

In addition to the famed "Pieta," the Vatican Pavilion will feature a Gallery of Michaelangelo containing a treatment of the works of the artist; a statue of the Good Shepherd, an early Christian sculpture from the catacombs, an exhibition of one-quarter life size color transparencies of the Sistine Chapel and a collection of Vatican coins and stamps.

The pavilion will house a large exhibit rotunda with a chapel on its mezzanine that will hold approximately 350 persons. The statue of the Good Shepherd will be located in the chapel. The exhibit area will feature Christ teaching, Christ loving and Christ sanctifying.

A 'CHALLENGE'

Joe Mieler, the famous scenic designer, who will be in charge of displaying the "Pieta," has said:

"It is a great responsibility to create a lighting plan and a setting for one of the world's greatest sculptures. This would be a challenge to anyone, but when you add to this the fact that Michaelangelo's youthful masterpiece is not only a secular work but a liturgically designed piece of sculpture to service as an altarpiece, it compounds the responsibility and the challenge."

Cardinal Cicognani expressed his hope that the pavilion will be visited "with reverence and with sincere affection."

'Can't Ignore Catholics On Aid Plan'

WASHINGTON (NC) — The size and contribution of Catholic schools mean Federal efforts to raise educational standards will be inadequate if children in these schools are ignored.

This is the thesis put forward by the Department of Education of the National Catholic Welfare Conference here in a new brochure, "Catholic Schools U.S.A."

Monsignor Frederick G. Hochwalt, department director who has testified before Congress on Federal aid to education proposals, released the new brochure.

Monsignor Hochwalt explained that the publication stresses the relative size of the Catholic school system and the contribution made in both educational and financial areas.

"Do you realize," the Monsignor asked in an interview, "that the Catholic school system in New York state is larger than the public school system in 34 states and the District of Columbia?"

"The brochure also notes that the Catholic school system in Pennsylvania is larger than the public school system in 26 states and the District of Columbia."

'INCOMPLETE'

Monsignor Hochwalt commented that "it seems to us that any effort to raise educational standards in order to meet national responsibilities would be woefully incomplete if it does not seek some solution to assist all children."

"How can we safely exclude from assistance a school system educating 5,253,791 students at the elementary and secondary levels?" he asked. "Think of the number of students whose educational standards could be upgraded if included in a general educational program."

Asked what consequences he saw for Catholic schools if they are excluded from a program of general Federal education aid, Msgr. Hochwalt answered that exclusion might "severely wound" Catholic schooling.

"We have as strong a desire to maintain high educational standards as anyone, but we honestly believe that we will not be able to effectively upgrade our standards, and, at the same time, expand our facilities if more money is spent on public education with no benefits to our students."

"It is entirely possible that in such an event we may be priced out of educational effectiveness."

HALTS EXPANSION

He said that even today Catholic schools do not accommodate "well over half" of the Catholic school-age children.

"Large numbers have been turned away during the past several years because facilities were not available. The recent announcement of the Archdiocese of St. Louis could be a sign of things to come," he said.

The St. Louis See has stopped expansion of its school system and expects to turn more than an estimated 10,000 children to public schools in the next five years. It blames lack of funds and lack of teachers.

Msgr. Hochwalt said the saving to taxpayers by Catholic schools is "enormous." He commented that "the $2.5 billion Catholic schools save taxpayers is, in effect, a subsidization of local public schools by our system."

If public school systems had to hire teachers for the children now in Catholic schools, he said, the cost would be at least $929,018,722.

If the entire Catholic system were to be duplicated, he added, it would mean building at least 12,968 schools. "It would mean providing another 178,985 classrooms," he said.

Councilman Would Ease Catholic School Burden

JERSEY CITY, N. J. (NC) — Fred Martin, this city's first Negro councilman, has asked the Jersey City Incinerator and Sewage Authorities not to submit bills to Catholic schools since Catholic schools bear half of the city's education costs.

"When city schools are billed (for services), the money goes out from one pocket and comes in another," he said. "But when a Catholic school pays, it is just another burden on overburdened Catholic parents."

House Education Unit OKs Then Rejects Private Aid

WASHINGTON (NC) — Rep. Hugh L. Carey disclosed here that the House Education Committee first accepted, then rejected, a proposal to include private schools in the biggest continuing Federal school aid program.

The New York legislator said he introduced an amendment during closed committee deliberation to include state-approved private schools in the so-called Federal impacted areas program.

This program is a 13-year-old effort which annually puts about $380 million into public school districts whose schools are attended by children of Federal workers and servicemen.

About 4,100 public school districts get Federal money for both school operation and construction.

Carey, a vigorous Congressional spokesman for private schools, said his amendment was accepted and then dropped just before a final 16 to 10 vote which supported a one-year extension of the program.

The final version threatened trouble for extension, however, because the committee included a stipulation that Federal aid be denied any racially segregated school district which does not produce a plan for desegregation by June 30 and carry it out within a year. Most of the impacted aid goes to schools in the South.

Carey, a Brooklyn Congressman, said in a statement he pointed out in committee discussion that since neither Federal nor state laws compel a child to attend a public school to be eligible for the same benefits as other Federally employed families, it was "simple equity" to include all children regardless of the school attended.

"Home of the Week"

White-Tite Repeat Customers Appreciate Many 'Extra' Services

REPEAT BUSINESS from satisfied customers is the finest recommendation of value anyone can have. "We're showing many different pictures of homes which have roofs coated by us four, five and six years ago," says Jesse J. Scalzo, White-Tite president. "We want you to see this 'Living Proof' of White-Tite durability. One example is shown in the recent photo above. The flat tile roof of the Hyde home at 4949 Riviera Dr., Coral Gables, was originally cleaned, sealed and coated with White-Tite in 1957. Almost 6 years later, they again contracted with White-Tite to clean, give free brush sealing and give two coats of lasting White-Tite to the flat tile roof. They still are pleased with their White-Tite job. This is the process and coating which has been tested on thousands of roofs throughout South Florida—not just a laboratory. White-Tite is not a "Johnny-Come-Lately" Company nor is roof-coating merely a sideline with us. The White-Tite process has been developed and perfected over a period of 16 years by Jesse J. stay white and beautiful while it protects the roof deck under the tile from heat, its worst enemy. We guarantee all of our work unconditionally for two years and give a five year warranty. # South Sudan A 'Human Zoo,' Says Independence Leader

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — William Deng, former Sudanese government official, declared that the Muslim government in Khartoum has turned the Southern Sudan into "a human zoo."

Deng, 34, a Catholic who is an alumnus of Verona Fathers' schools and the University of Khartoum, has been buttonholing delegates to the United Nations seeking to win them to his cause — independence for the Southern Sudan.

He told the NCWC News Service that the Catholic press in the United States and abroad has done a decent job in reporting the methodical work of the military regime headed by Gen. Ibrahim Abboud in trying to eradicate Christianity in the south. But he said the world until now has seemed almost totally unaware that the people of the southern Sudan are united in wanting to throw off the yoke of their Muslim rulers from the North.

Deng is secretary general of the Sudan African Closed Districts National Union (SACDNU). The movement's leadership consists of Sudanese refugees in Uganda, the Congo and other neighboring states. An assistant district commissioner in the Southern Sudan until two years ago, he was tipped off that he was to be arrested, and had just enough time to flee the country.

His point here is that while the ouster of the Catholic and Protestant missionaries and the gradual suppression of virtually all Christian activity in the south have made headlines abroad, they are only part of a greater pattern. The pattern consists of violations of virtually all of the human and civil rights of the southerners by the northern regime.

Deng maintains that north and south in the Sudan are totally different:

The north, whose eight million people are generally of Arab stock, is overwhelmingly Muslim. It is an arid land which looks toward Egypt for its inspiration.

The rainy and fertile south, with a population of about four million, is peopled by Negroes and Nilotic tribesmen. They are still mostly pagans. But for their leadership, they look to the Christians, who now total close to half a million southerners.

Nazis Beat Italian Priest To Death, Report Reveals

MILAN (NC) — The death of a 71-year-old village priest nearly 20 years ago in a Nazi-run prison in Milan resulted from a savage beating, according to a report of the National Association of Former Deportees to Nazi Concentration Camps.

Father Achille Bolis was arrested by SS troops on Feb. 21, 1944, in his village of Calozicorte near Bergamo, along with his curate and four other men. The six were suspected of partisan activities. They were taken first to Bergamo, then to SS headquarters at the Regina Hotel in Milan, then to the prison of St. Victor where the pastor died in his cell on Feb. 23.

Two witnesses, according to the deportees' association, have testified that Father Bolis died from a beating.

The four other men arrested with Father Bolis and his curate, Father Tommaso Rota, were deported to Germany and never heard of again.

U.S. Officer Killed By Reds Won Lepers, Nuns Respect

By FR. PATRICK O'CONNOR
Society of St. Columban

SAIGON, Vietnam (NC) — The lepers of St. Joseph's Hospital, Bengan, 28 miles from Saigon, mourn Lt. Parker D. Cramer, young American officer killed by Viet Cong communists May 6.

He won the admiration of the lepers, their chaplain and the Sisters of Charity when he was stationed near them last March.

Lt. Cramer, 26, from Waukegan, N. Y., had volunteered to serve as an adviser in Vietnam and was one of a group attached to Vietnamese army units operating in "Zone D," a thinly populated, wooded region where communists had exercised control for years.

"The lepers remember him very well," Father Victor Berset, C. M., chaplain at St. Joseph's hospital said. "They were greatly impressed by him and another American officer who assisted at daily Mass here whenever they could and received Holy Communion. During the day they were seen visiting the chapel. The children remember the plentiful gifts of chocolate and candy.

"We had a Requiem Mass for him here on May 9. Our lepers pray for him and his sorrowing parents."

Nine New Priests Extended Our Gratitude, Best Wishes

Next week, two events within five days of each other will give us reason to look to the future more hopefully. On Saturday, Bishop Coleman F. Carroll will ordain five deacons to the holy priesthood at the Cathedral in Miami. Along with four others ordained in Rome, Ireland and Ohio, this will bring to nine the number of new priests to be assigned in the Diocese this year.

On the following Thursday, the second class to be graduated from the Junior College department of St. John Vianney Seminary will have their names inscribed in the brief but significant history of the minor seminary. Next September they will join last year's pioneer class as the first students of Philosophy in the new St. Vincent's Major Seminary presently under construction in Boynton Beach.

The nine newly ordained will by no means end the acute need of almost every parish for more priests, but their priestly zeal and activity will do much to relieve the shortage in some areas. The new graduates at St. John Vianney are still six full years away from ordination, a long time before they can be of service to the Diocese, but at least they are well on the way. And we congratulate them on this significant milestone in their preparation for the priesthood.

Since everyone in the Diocese would welcome the opportunity personally to congratulate our ordinands but are unable to do so, we are happy to take this occasion to express their gratitude and prayerful best wishes. We wish our new priests many years of service in the vineyard of Christ and the kind of success which God considers worthwhile.

Especially are we anxious to acknowledge our debt to their parents. Only God knows the sacrifices involved over the long years in encouraging their sons to follow Christ in the priesthood in this most honored of all vocations. May God reward them and at the same time inspire many other parents to imitate their example.

Prayers For Our Holy Father

As we prepare to go to press, the news of our Holy Father's condition continues to be grave and to fill all with the deepest concern.

There was immediate response all over the Diocese when Bishop Coleman F. Carroll sent word to all his people through the pastors to redouble their prayers for his recovery, if it be God's holy will. Churches have been welcoming many more than usual on weekdays as people in every parish offer Mass and receive Holy Communion for our Holy Father.

We are told that Pope John has been informed of the prayers not only of Catholics the world over but of many non-Catholics who have come to identify him as their friend, even as their father. Very likely no other pope in history has had so many non-Catholics go on their knees to beg God to bless this humble saintly man who has in a short time created an atmosphere of Christian charity in the world which astonishes people of all nations.

This very fact, while the Pope lies critically ill, deeply impresses all of us with the conviction that this warmhearted, fatherly man is no ordinary leader of men. Obviously history will give him the rank of one of the great popes of Christianity.

While it is natural to feel a certain dismay at the possibility of his death, especially because vital activity of the Ecumenical Council is presently at its peak, and he has been its inspiration as well as its guide, still we must remember that God Himself is behind the Church. When Pius XII lay dying four and a half years ago, everyone wondered who could possibly succeed him without the Church being handicapped to some degree.

God gave His answer in Pope John, the unlikely candidate for the papacy. If he lives now, as we fervently pray, all will be well with the Church. However, if he goes to his reward, all will be well with the Church. The Holy Spirit of God supports and guides the destiny of the Church now as on the first Pentecost Sunday.

In Christ's Heart... A Refuge

It has become commonplace for everyone to speak of the insecurity and fear in the world today. And riding in to capitalize on the human need for assurance and security, an army of smooth speaking charlatans offers most attractive remedies to the desperate. Some have not even hesitated to found new religions primarily to induce a sense of security and to dispel fear.

But alas, all these fervent assurances, being the invention of human minds, fade away in the pressure of trial and temptation and leave people as restless and as fearful as before.

It seems obvious now that God knew all along that our modern times would need certain assurances, that our neurotic age would require His special help to banish fears characteristic of our confused generation. Is not this the reason why the Church sets aside the month of June to call attention to the Sacred Heart and to His promises?

For instance, notice this promise of Our Lord: "To those who will go to Communion on the First Friday of the Month, during nine consecutive months, I promise the grace of final repentance; they shall not die in disgrace with Me, or without receiving the sacraments, and My heart shall be their secure asylum at the last hour."

There indeed is a promise worthy of attention, because it comes not from fallible man, but from God Who alone can keep His word. We Catholics feel the restlessness of our times as much as anyone. We sense the same need for security and for reassurance.

The crowded churches on the First Friday of every month seem to prove that many of our people know where to look for and to find a "secure asylum" in the Heart of Christ.

The first Friday crowds are indeed a phenomenon. In our country at least half the population cannot find motive or time according to polls to go to church on Sunday. But here on a weekday, when it is not a matter of obligation, millions, crowd about the altar and receive the body of Christ in reparation for their own sins and the sins of others.

They do so because it is a matter of conviction with us that Christ offers the only security worth the trouble.

2 Events Will Have A Deep Influence On U.S. Catholics

By Father JOHN B. SHEERIN

In this era of surprises, the extraordinary sometimes becomes humdrum. I suppose this is to be expected at a time when astronaut Cooper rides 560,000 miles through space in 34 hours. But I think there is a need for American Catholics to take note of two amazing events that took place within the last month.

On May 11th Pope John called on the President of the Italian Republic. This is the first time in history that a Pope paid a visit to the chief of this Republic.

On May 13th, moreover, Cardinal Suenens of Belgium, as personal representative of the Holy Father, delivered an address at the U.N. He spoke at the annual conference of Non-Governmental Organizations. What a shock it would be for Garibaldi to return to earth and find a Pope at the Quirinal Palace as an honored guest and a Cardinal at the headquarters of the organization conceived as "the conscience of the world."

To further accentuate the startling change since 1870, the Catholic President of the United States, has arranged to visit the Pope in June.

RADICAL CHANGE

These developments show the radical change that has set into the general attitude of statesmen and diplomats in the last century. In those sad days when the Pope was a forgotten "prisoner of the Vatican," the mind of European thinkers was that the past was a dead hand stifling liberty and progress.

"Secularization," which really meant a cold war on the Church, was the order of the day: every vestige of religion had to be destroyed, every experiment in the direction of liberty had to be attempted. Now that old Continental Liberalism is dead.

The new developments will have a profound impact, I believe, on the life and ways of American Catholics. In the early days of our country the Catholic immigrants, facing with the hostility of certain Protestant bigots and with that anticlericalism that spilled over from Europe, retreated into their ghettos.

UNHAPPY DAYS

They imagined, and in many cases they had good reason to do so, that the majority was persecuting them. Many regarded their religion not as a haven of society and a force for community peace and welfare but as a haven of retreat from their troubles, an escape from an alien world.

We have come far from those unhappy days but too many of us are still reluctant to play an active role in our local communities. That is why I think that the visit of the Pope to the Quirinal and of Cardinal Suenens to the U.N. will have a profound influence on American Catholics.

Here are two of the top Vatican leaders taking a vital part in international relations and making substantial contributions to the peace of the world. The obvious inference for any thinking Catholic is that if a Pope and a Cardinal are participating in the affairs of the world community, it is high time that American Catholics should play an active part in the affairs of their national and local communities.

GREAT ISSUES

If Pope John has a keen sense of responsibility for the peace of the world, should we not have a keen sense of responsibility for the peace and welfare of our communities?

Holy Spirit Wants To Enlighten All of Us

By Msgr. JAMES J. WALSH

There is no doubt the Holy Spirit is the most neglected, the least understood of the three Divine Persons in the Blessed Trinity.

Of all the reasons that may be put forth to explain this, probably the one that touches most of us in the sensitive spot has to do with plain Ignorance.

MSGR. WALSH

Many people have developed the notion they are not supposed to know much about the Holy Ghost.

Because His name is odd and abstract, they think everything about Him is meant to be mysterious.

The little colored boy had studied his catechism well, and when asked to name the Persons in the Trinity, he immediately called off the Father and the Son. Then, after a long pause, he sadly said he could not "remember the name of that third white Gentleman."

Well, we usually remember His name well enough, but not much more. And the fact is that ignorance about the Holy Spirit always results in a lack of honor for Him and deprives us of many blessings we should be obtaining through an act of devotion to Him.

Perhaps we are drawn closest to the Spirit of God by coming to realize something of His work in the soul. When we see the effects, the truly miraculous transformations brought about by Him in the past, we begin to appreciate His necessary place in the divine order.

TRUTH OF THE MATTER

Notice, for instance, the astonishing influence the Holy Spirit had on the apostles, when they had prepared well for His coming.

SUDDEN CHANGE

What impresses us first about the sudden change in the apostles at the time of Our Lord's ascension, just ten days before Pentecost, actually seemed like students who had not prepared very well for their final examinations.

The questions they asked Our Lord even at that late date proved they had not yet grasped some fundamental truths. It was obvious they felt ill prepared to go into the world to teach others, when they themselves needed to be taught much.

The Holy Ghost became their teacher. For such is His work as the Spirit of Truth. He opened their minds, flooded them with light, and made clear every revealed truth.

This infusion of knowledge took but an instant. However thereafter they were capable of meeting the scholars of Greece and the subtle minds of Rome, not only to expose their sophisms and errors but to give them the thrilling truths the world had waited for since the darkness fell on Adam's intellect.

We need to be convinced that the Holy Spirit wishes to produce this same effect, the enlightenment of the mind, in each of us, no matter who we are. Not to the same degree of course, as in the case of the apostles, for we do not have their mission.

IN DEBT

Everyone who receives the gift of faith is in debt to the Holy Spirit. And if we have the light to see Christian truths which a non-believer cannot see, it is only because the Holy Spirit is operating in us.

This explains why some of the saints obviously learned more about God in prayer than they did in books. They thus disposed themselves to receive the light of grace.

Secondly, the apostles were sanctified by the Holy Spirit. He made them holy. We know they were already good men surely in the state of grace. But some of them were proud, some given to jealousy, or spurred by ambition. All of them had some weaknesses.

However, after the Holy Spirit visited them, they became changed men, their spiritual feebleness ceased, their defects disappeared, they became not only holy, but models of holiness.

We need, it goes without saying, these transforming graces. Whatever our state of life, God intends each of us to become holy, indeed eventually to become a saint.

The quest of holiness, however, will lead nowhere, unless we have the special help of the Holy Spirit to quiet passions, to crush selfishness, to remove the chill from our hearts and make us generous. And all these graces are ours if we cooperate with the spirit of God.

STRENGTH

Finally, we are impressed with the strength given the apostles. The same men who had abandoned Christ and lived in fear of His enemies, now desired to face the persecutors, to preach Christ crucified, to embrace the cross themselves.

The world was not broad enough nor a lifetime long enough to exhaust this reserve of strength as they went from country to country furthering the cause of Christ.

Every Catholic who has been making a day-by-day effort to keep the law of God and to live a good life knows from sad experience he needs much more than his own will power and good resolutions. We all come to realize we have to have the supernatural help of the Holy Spirit in order to reach the supernatural goal of heaven.

We are not built to weather the storms of temptation alone, to buck the spirit of paganism in the world, to accept the will of God when our nature rebels against it.

To know God and the truths of our religion, to love Him and to overcome faults, to remain loyal and courageous, we need but one thing — the help and cooperation of the Holy Spirit. If we live with this conviction, the Holy Spirit of God will be close to us in our prayers and devotions.

How Can Government Best Protect Workers' Rights?

By Msgr. GEORGE G. HIGGINS

The General Electric Company recently published a Report on "Compulsory Unionism" which is more restrained in its criticism of the "union shop" than the typical publication of its kind.

The author — Mr. Philip D. Moore, Manager of General Electric's Employee Relations Service — keeps his rhetoric fairly well in hand and is reasonably fair to organized labor. Now and then, however, he is somewhat less than objective in his criticism of the labor movement and its elected officials.

Mr. Moore's basic argument is that the union shop is an unwarranted infringement on the freedom of the individual worker. General Electric feels so strongly about this matter that it would have the government prohibit the union shop.

"Force destroys confidence in government," GE pointed out in a 1952 policy statement referred to by Mr. Moore in his Report. "Government should protect freedom. Rather than condoning or, worse yet, being a party to any scheme of corporation and union officials to take money and freedom away from employees by force, the government should protect employees against just that."

I take this to mean that General Electric is in favor of some form of "right-to-work" legislation at the State level and possibly at the Federal level as well.

General Electric's basic argument leaves much to be desired. To say that the government should not compel workers to join a union is one thing, but to argue that the government should prohibit labor and management from voluntarily entering into a union shop agreement is another matter altogether.

A law compelling all workers to join the union representing them at their place of employment would probably be immoral, because some unions are corrupt or are under the domination of communists or racketeers. But the union shop, as such, is morally defensible.

Of course, safeguards for the individual worker's rights must be provided where the union shop is authorized. In general, existing Federal legislation provides such safeguards.

Probably the most valid reason for contending that the union shop of itself involves no unreasonable curtailment of individual liberty is the modest burden which union membership imposes upon an employee under existing Federal law.

Under the Taft-Hartley Act, as interpreted by the National Labor Relations Board and the Federal courts, the union shop in those industries which come under the jurisdiction of the NLRB requires no more of an employee than the payment of reasonable initiation fees, periodic dues, and assessments to the union that legally represents him in a collective bargaining contract.

In other words, the "liberty" conferred by a right-to-work law, correctly interpreted, can only be a financial liberty. It frees the employee from the obligation of making a monetary contribution to the union that is his bargaining agent. The Federal law prohibits all other obligations, unless the employee voluntarily consents to them.

Federal legislation provides several other safeguards of individual rights.

A union cannot require membership as a condition of employment unless it has been chosen as the bargaining agent by a majority of employees in an election conducted by the NLRB, or unless the employer himself is satisfied that the union is supported by a majority. There can be no legal or enforceable union shop without the employer's consent expressed in a written contract signed by the employer and the union.

Many other forms of protection also are available to the individual worker.

I would say, then, that the union shop is ethically defensible and should not be prohibited by law.

Our Daily Work Can Lead Us To Heaven

By FATHER LEO J. TRESE

God made us to love Him — forever. The whole purpose of life is contained in this vocation to love. Compared to it, all lesser human goals fade into insignificance.

At first glance it might seem that God is being miserably short-changed. Everyone is hurrying through the day, occupied with a thousand duties and interests. Fathers work at a driving pace to provide for their families.

Father Trese

GOD'S WORLD

Mothers, harried to distraction, minister to the needs of husband and children. Single men and women in schools, offices and the marketplace have their own pressures and stresses. We are tempted to say, "It seems that very little time is being given to loving God. If that is what God made us for, His idea is not paying off very well."

SHOW OUR LOVE

Then we reflect on the nature of charity, and we realize that it is not a matter of spending our whole day looking at the sky (or at the tabernacle) and saying, over and over, "My God, I love You!" Explicit acts of love must have their place, yes. But principally God expects us to show our love for Him by fulfilling our nature as human beings.

This means, at a minimum, that we respect God's will and that we live our lives within the framework of His laws. Still better, it means that God is the target of our total life. Whatever intermediate aims we may have, God is the ultimate objective of all we do.

In practice, this becomes a matter of trying our best to discharge well the obligations that life has placed upon us. Assuming that we are united with Christ by sanctifying grace, love for God then is expressed in our efforts to be a good father, mother, neighbor, citizen, parishoner. We love God by being a good teacher, nurse, secretary, mechanic, merchant, doctor, lawyer or politician. We love God even in our recreations and social activities.

In short, we love God by trying to use well the talents, great or small, with which He has endowed us. Somehow the circumstances of life have settled us into a certain area of existence and action which is uniquely our own. This area, however unimportant it may seem to be, is the particular part of God's total picture on which He wants us to work. Or, to vary the figure, this is our "beat," which we must cover to the best of our ability.

As we progress through our busy day, we are forwarding God's plan for the world. For God, this is the Seventh Day. God is "resting," as He leaves it to us to carry on (under His guidance) His work of creation.

We are not consciously thinking of God all the time, no more than is a man explicitly thinking of his family while his mind is on the work which provides their bread and butter. Yet, every new day, with God as our ultimate objective, speaks of our love for Him.

It may seem to us that we are making a ridiculously weak impact upon the world. We may see very little "creativity" or long-range importance in what we are doing. However, this is not a matter which need concern us. A man in a rowing shell bends his back to the oar without knowing or worrying about what lies ahead.

He leaves the guidance to the coxswain. For us, God is the helmsman — and our contribution to God's own final objective may be far more important than we think.

No, God is not being short-changed on love quite as shamefully as the world's busyness might lead us to believe. True enough, it is sad that there are so many persons whose lives are not oriented to God. They do but sharpen the challenge to ourselves. It is for us to make up to God, by our own more perfect service, for all the love He seeks and does not get.

Seek Closer Ties, Presbyterians Urged

DES MOINES, Ia. (NC) — The 175th General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church has urged members to establish a stronger association with Catholics.

In accepting a recommendation by the Standing Committee on Ecumenical Mission and Relations for new associations with Catholics, the assembly suggested informal discussions to develop understanding and cooperation in social action.

"We have many tasks in common in our divided and turbulent world," the statement said.

The 3.2 million member church was also urged by the assembly to strengthen understanding with Orthodox churches.

Topics that Presbyterians might discuss with Catholics, the assembly document said, are the Scriptures and problems stemming from differences in "theological conceptions, traditions or church policies and practices, for example mixed marriages, need and forms of family planning . . ."

The assembly also supported cooperation in common concerns involving social action at the civic level. It mentioned "working toward world peace and racial justice, relocation of refugees, and reduction of juvenile delinquency."

For social action cooperation, the statement said Presbyterians should be familiar with the recent papal encyclicals as well as statements from their own general assembly, the National Council of Churches and the World Council of Churches.

"In suggesting preparation for associations with our Roman Catholic brethren," the statement added, "we do not imply that these should be regarded as encounters of wit or debates to tear down opposing arguments."

"Rather, they should be approached as opportunities for increasing mutual understanding and for joining together in seeking more comprehension of the obedience to God's truth and its meaning for His Church and His world."

MISSOURI LAWMAKERS CHANGE STAND

Views Switch In Bus Issue

By RHEA FELKNOR

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (NC) — Several legislators, including Speaker of the House Thomas D. Graham, have changed their position on the issue of school buses for parochial children following mass demonstrations by Catholic parents.

A number now publicly are backing a move to put the issue up to a statewide vote.

Graham appeared unexpectedly before a committee hearing on the bus issue to the surprise of committee members. He urged the committee to let parents vote on the issue.

The issue now is in the form of a House Joint Resolution 43, which would call for an amendment to the Missouri Constitution. The amendment would establish a system of state school buses for parochial school students, paid for by tax funds.

GENERAL ELECTION
The amendment would be placed on the ballot at the November, 1964, general election. The fate of the amendment is being considered by the House Constitutional Amendments Committee. The committee on two occasions delayed announcement of its decision.

The delay allowed the committee's 11 members to return home over a weekend recess, and check reaction from constituents before making a decision.

Speaker Graham's action at the hearing set the stage for what transpired later.

"I come here as a member of the Democratic party, a Protestant, a Mason, who has heretofore represented the Missouri Council of Churches on legal matters," Graham told the committee.

(The Missouri Council of Churches has taken the lead in opposing tax-paid school buses for Catholic school children in Missouri — both in the current House Joint Resolution 43, and the previous House Bill 367 which was killed by committee earlier this session.)

KILLED EARLIER

"I would never support any measure which would give any aid to any Church, including my own," Graham continued. "But the resolution you have before you tonight gives the people of the state an opportunity to vote. I think it is up to the people of the state to make this decision."

Graham was an opponent of House Bill 367 which was killed earlier. The action touched off demonstrations across the state in which protesting parents withdrew their children from parochial schools and enrolled them in public schools.

Michigan Governor Signs Tax-Paid School Bus Law

LANSING, Mich. (NC) — Gov. George Romney has signed into law a bill to require public school districts which operate school buses to transport nonpublic school pupils to and from their schools.

Under a 1955 law, school districts had an option to do this and most did not. An estimated 22,000 pupils schools rode tax-paid buses under the old law. That number is expected to rise to about 42,000 because of the new mandatory legislation.

There are some 350,000 children in Michigan parochial and other private schools, but most of them are in districts in large cities where school bus transportation is held to be not necessary.

Michigan law required a child live more than one and a half miles from his school to be eligible for bus rides. The new legislation stipulates that nonpublic school pupils who live within a mile and a half of a public school may be required by the local school district to travel by their own means to the public school and be transported from it to the school they attend.

Under the old law, only about 200 of the state's 1,600 public school districts operating school buses offered transportation to children attending parochial and other private schools.

In 1955, the Michigan Attorney General held that transportation of children in nonpublic schools did not violate the state constitution.

God Love You

Most Reverend
Fulton J. Sheen

Begging for money without first making the givers spiritual is a kind of financial rape. It is seizure without love. Catholics may have never thought of it this way, but they instinctively rebel against what they call "money sermons." They are more right than they know.

Let them pick up St. Paul, who, like every missionary, interested in spreading the Faith, had to take up collections. In his appeal to the faithful of Corinth to help the poor and suffering in Jerusalem, he used the word "grace" seven times but the word "money" not once. The whole subject of our fellowship with the Missions was seen as an activity of grace. Grace for him, and for us, is first the Life, Truth and Love in the Trinity; then in Christ, Our Savior; and finally in us, mediated through the Church.

Paul did not say: "Next Sunday there will be a collection for the propagation of the Faith. Please be generous." He said something like this: "Be devoted to Our Lord, and then you will be devoted to the Missions. If you give yourself to the Lord, you will give what you have; but if you do not love the Sacred Heart, you will only give grudgingly and out of necessity." You rebel against "money talks" only if the priest has not tried to awaken love of Christ in your souls before asking, or if you do not have any such love in your heart, even if he does appeal in Christ's Name.

Did you know that the magazine with the largest Catholic circulation in the United States has as its first purpose that of St. Paul, namely, to make people holy? It knows that they will then be generous to others. Very fittingly, this magazine does not belong to any one missionary society but to the Holy Father's own Society for the Propagation of the Faith, which aids all missionaries, all societies, all over the world. It never asks anyone to "give" to the Holy Father; it never seeks to help Africa without helping you; it never tries to convert Asia without first making you love Our Lord more. It does speak of "sacrifice," because sacrifice is pain with love — the giving up of something until it hurts because you first love Christ.

We will send this magazine to you free (it is called MISSION and already has millions of readers) if you will drop us a note. A "note"? Well, a "bank note" or a "check note," if you please. If that is impossible, a "please" without anything but a prayer that we may all love God more will suffice. Let us hear from you!

GOD LOVE YOU to L. J. P. for $4.50 "In thanksgiving to Our Mother of Perpetual Help for a favor granted." . . . to E. B. J. for $35 "My husband's company dinner is this week, but I'd rather wear an old dress and work on a better position in heaven. Use what I would have spent as the Holy Father wishes." . . . to R. M. for $1 "Instead of spending money on magazines, I have been going to the library to read them. I will try to do this every month and send the money to God's poor." . . . to M.B.M. for $5 "My grandmother gave me this money as a graduation present. I want you to have it for the children in Asia and Africa."

Seminaries Urged To Adapt To Needs Of Changing Times

WASHINGTON (NC) — Seminary education must always stand ready for adaptation to meet the needs of changing times, the rector of the Catholic University of America said here.

Msgr. William J. McDonald preached at an evening Mass offered in the National Shrine of the Immaculate Conception celebrating the 400th anniversary of the Council of Trent's decree on the establishment of seminaries. The council's 1563 decree set up the system of education of candidates for the priesthood in its modern form.

The Mass was offered by Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle of Washington, chancellor of the Catholic University, with whose School of Sacred Theology seminaries throughout the country are affiliated. Archbishop O'Boyle is a member of the Second Vatican Council's Commission on Seminaries and Catholic Schools.

Monsignor McDonald said there is need to "examine ourselves on many points" in the light of the Council of Trent's decree.

Confirmation Of Adults Set At Cathedral

The Sacrament of Confirmation will be administered to adults in the Diocese of Miami by Bishop Coleman F. Carroll at 3 p.m. next Sunday, June 2, the Feast of Pentecost.

Any resident Catholic in South Florida above high school age may receive the sacrament at that time provided he has the written permission of his pastor for himself and a sponsor.

Candidates may choose their own sponsors and pastors will notify the Cathedral rectory in advance of the ceremonies as to the names of those to be confirmed.

One of the most important of the seven sacraments, the Sacrament of Confirmation should be received by all Catholics.

Through Confirmation the Holy Spirit comes in a special way to the soul, enabling Christians to profess their faith strongly and perfectly as adult soldiers of Christ.

Those wishing to be confirmed may obtain complete information from their respective pastors.

14,000 Cuban Refugee Children Aided

CLEVELAND — More than 14,000 unaccompanied Cuban children have been assisted in their flight from communism by the Miami Catholic Welfare Bureau without any adverse effects on the young refugees, Miami's diocesan director of Catholic Charities said here.

Msgr. Bryan O. Walsh, who inaugurated the program for the Cuban children with the approval and assistance of the Federal government in 1960, was the principal speaker during the annual banquet of the Child Welfare League of America meeting in conjunction with the National Conference of Social Welfare.

A citation presented to Monsignor Walsh and the Miami Catholic Welfare Bureau in recognition of outstanding child welfare work marked the first time the League has honored a non-member agency with an award.

WORK PRAISED

League president R. H. Colacott presented the scroll "as a testimonial of this agency's outstanding service to Cuban refugee children, of the devoted and imaginative response by its staff and board of directors to the plight of these displaced children and of the magnificent demonstration of cooperation with public and private agencies in providing foster homes; the depth of concern for these children, the determination to find care for them and the deep sense of responsibility to help individual children irrespective of nationality and residence which were evidenced, are qualities that the League honors and wishes to proclaim during the 43rd annual meeting convened in Cleveland."

Explaining the background of the program in which archdioceses and dioceses throughout the country are now cooperating, Monsignor Walsh told welfare workers that the young refugees are in general, "children of middle-class families; doctors, lawyers, small store owners, etc., between the ages of six and 18. "Fifty per cent," the Irish-born priest said, "are girls over 12, 15 per cent are boys under 12 and 10 per cent are girls under 12. A few are from very rich families. A few are from peasant and fishermen families, especially the teenage boys.

"They come in all sizes and colors," he added. "Chinese, Negro, German, Irish, English and of course Spanish ethnic origin. As a group they impress visitors by their good deportment and easy manner. They are outgoing and friendly.

"The boys, in my opinion," Monsignor Walsh said, "adjust easier than the girls to the new United States customs.

"These children were sent because their parents could see all around them the results of communist indoctrination. It was to protect their children from this that they made the sacrifice of sending them to the United States, knowing full well that in this very act, they were openly declaring themselves to be against communism and the Castro regime," Monsignor Walsh said.

Explaining that social workers are aware of the damage which the separation of children from parents can do, Monsignor Walsh said that his agency, which at the present time has 1,056 children under direct care, feels that the separation in itself has not done any harm.

"We think that the reason lies in the fact that but for a rare exception, these are not privileged children, as are so many of the children we see in our regular agency programs. They have never suffered the pain of rejection and have not known the loss of their parents' love. It is only natural that this experience should affect the Cuban child, but as far as we can see now, it has not had any adverse affects," he said.

"We just do not see at the present time any prospects of the early reuniting of these children with their families," Monsignor Walsh continued.

"Seventy-five per cent of the children whom we have helped are not now under care. One way or another, their problems have been worked out — parents, relatives, or friends have claimed them or they have grown up and left our care at the age of 19."

According to Monsignor Walsh, 6,969 of the 14,101 children who entered the U. S. up to May 12 required foster care. Others were met on arrival by friends and relatives. To date, 3,297 have been released from care to families and relatives and friends while 2,616 are in 38 other states under the care of 91 agencies.

His Eminence, Francis Cardinal Spellman,

Archbishop of New York, says of the June Reader's Digest book condensation,

"This true story—The Triumph of Janis Babson—will appeal to all who admire courage..."

SELDOME—even on the battlefield—is a human being asked to pass through an ordeal more demanding than that faced, so courageously, by this little girl. And it will be evident to all who read the inspiring story of her two-year battle with leukemia that what sustained her, what gave her the strength to help others (even while she herself was dying) was her faith in God.

"This true story will appeal to all who admire courage, to all who wonder about the sources of courage, and to all who may feel that life has treated them harshly. 'The Triumph of Janis Babson' was indeed a triumph—a victory, by the Grace of God, over death itself. Let any person who feels heavy-laden read the story of Janis thoughtfully and he will draw from it new humility and new strength for daily living."

Observance of Youth Adoration Day is sponsored by the National Catholic Organization with the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Msgr. Frederick J. Stevenson, director of the NCWC Youth Department, said that "in this time of unusual stress upon youth's moral resources, it is specially fitting that Youth Adoration Day's intentions concern so specifically the spiritual foundations of our young Catholics."

Aquinas Senior Essay

By GREGG CAMPBELL

One of the primary aims of Catholic secondary education has always been the formulation within the individual of an alert, intelligent, and practical sense of good citizenship. Another proof of the effectiveness of this program came to light Sunday, May 26, as the Fort Lauderdale News and Sun Sentinel announced that Michael Garretson, St. Thomas Aquinas High School senior, has won first place honors in their citizenship essay contest.

Mike became eligible for entry in the competition by previously winning a monthly News Sentinel citizenship award.

His essay, "America — Its Future," criticized those who constantly malign The United graduates attended a Day of Recollection, conducted at Madonna Convent by Father James X. Henry.

The entire student body participated in Class Night on Wednesday, May 29, as the Seniors gave their farewells to the underclassmen. Sue Ford welcomed students and guests to the program; Nancy Fenbach, class president, gave a tribute to the faculty. Cheryl Anton, junior class president, followed with a tribute to the senior class on behalf of the student body. Carla Anderson, Judy Cahill and Kay Timmons read the Class Will; Pat Devita, Janice Noll and Barbara Vogl gave an account of the Class History. As solemn and touching conclusion, Barbara Brandes, Student Council president, delivered the seniors' farewell address.

On Friday morning, May 21, the Seniors will attend their Baccalaureate Mass at Annunciation Church and tonight at 8 p.m., at Annunciation, Madonna's graduates will receive their diplomas and start along a new and challenging path on their journey of life.

The sale of our first year book, the Mariean, was a complete success. The books were sold as fast as they came in.

The meeting also presented an occasion for the faculty to become familiar with the fine young coaching staff at La Salle, headed by Mr. Gil Verderber and Mr. Van Parsons. Mr. Verderber, head football coach, is aided in these sports by Mr. Parsons who is also head baseball coach.

Brother Patrick F.S.C., principal, expresses high hopes for a much improved and even more extensive athletic program with the co-operation and aid of the school's newly created Alumni Association.

with graduation, we recently received word that Ronald [Name], an Aquinas graduate, received the University of Notre Dame Navigation Award. The award was made at the President's Annual Review of Notre Dame ROTC units with Father Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C. bestowing the honor.

For Aquinas seniors, Tuesday, May 28, was the big day. On that day the last of the senior exams were completed, and the seniors had, at long last, completed their high school careers, in an academic sense at least. Though classes might have been over, school by no means was to be forgotten. There were still Honors Night, Rose and Torch Ceremony, and graduation to look forward to.

Gibbons Sees TV 'Special'

By DENISE O'MARA

"Television comes to the classroom" definitely made a hit at Cardinal Gibbons for instead of televised lessons, the students saw the TV Special, "The Vatican."

The technicolor film of the Papacy and the Eternal City, produced by Mr. and Mrs. Secodari especially for television viewing Easter Sunday night was shown at Cardinal Gibbons through the courtesy of the producers on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. Wednesday night the film was shown to the public at the school and the parents of the producer, Mr. Secodari, were introduced to the audience.

Wednesday, May 29, the girls of Cardinal Gibbons had their first annual school picnic at Birch State Park in Fort Lauderdale.

In the boys building, the Junior Boys had their field trip on Tuesday, May 21. They went to the Seaquarium, for a tour through Everglades National Park and to Flamingo Groves.

The Freshmen Boys, divided into two groups, also went to the Seaquarium for their field trips.

Cardinal Gibbons students got to know ex-Governor Lodge of Connecticut well during his stay in Ft. Lauderdale last week. Two journalism students, Nancy Seigle and Ray Wilson, attended a press conference given by the ex-governor for the benefit of high school journalists.

That evening, at the Junior Achievement Awards Banquet, ex-Governor Lodge, now head of the Jr. Achievement program, spoke to the youths and the school representatives. Sherry Bolender, a junior, received an award for perfect attendance while Mr. and Mrs. Cressell, Cardinal Gibbons adult

School's Out At Curley Hi

By LEONARD GIULIANO

By this time all recipients of a Curley education for this year have bid farewell to the 1962-63 school year. The seniors attended school for the last time on Wednesday, May 22, while the rest of the student body went to final classes Wednesday, May 29.

This year's seniors certainly did well by Curley's traditions and upheld them in all fields. If quantity of scholarships, for example, is any barometer, this year's senior class isn't lacking any in the intellectual field.

This year's seniors exhibited fine school spirit including leadership of the rest of the student body. The traditions and responsibilities of past senior classes at Curley were maintained. A look at the achievements of the school as a whole, is the best method of determining what this year's seniors were like — and that shining record stands for itself.

110 Graduate At Notre Dame

By VIRGINIA DUKE

One hundred and ten proud Notre Dame seniors filed with precision into the pews at Corpus Christi Church on Sunday, May 26, to assist at their Baccalaureate Mass.

Attired in traditional white caps and gowns of the graduate, they wore for the first time royal blue hoods with matching royal blue and white tassels. Members of the National Honor Society were distinguished by powder blue sash in hoods with the NHS insignia on the front.

The girls sang at the Mass to the accompaniment of Mr. Gilmore, Corpus Christi organist.

Father John Glory, assistant pastor at Corpus Christi, spoke to the graduating class.

Sun-soaked and water-drenched girls bounced beach balls, tromped through the zoo, played guitars and sang folk songs at the annual Student Council picnic held Ascension Thursday, May 22 at Crandon Park, Council moderator, Sister Marie Agnese, accompanied the girls to the park, and later in the afternoon the other sister arrived.

Members of the Mission Club, who had previously planned on a trip to Viscaya, joined the Student Council this year, and members of other activity groups were also invited.

Science Club members, accompanied by Sister Lucina moderator, joined the picnic after their tour through the University of Miami on their yearly field trip.

Keen inter-class competition prevailed on the Campus at NDA on Monday, May 20, as sports-minded students competed for softball and basketball trophies.

Clashes between seniors and juniors in both competitions yielded a victory for the juniors. In Underclassmen competition, the sophomores came out on top.

CC Places Four On Voice's All-Star Baseball Team

Christopher Columbus, the unofficial diocese champion and the state's Class A District 8 titlists, dominate The Voice's 1963 All-Star baseball team.

Led by their ace Dave McCammon, the Explorers placed four men on the elite squad while Archbishop Curley High gained three spots, LaSalle High two while Cardinal Gibbons and Cardinal Newman had one each.

McCammon, who had a 10-6 pitching record and a .460 batting mark, is named as the diocese's most outstanding player. McCammon's pitching victories in the Class A Southern tournament, district championship game and against the Class A District 7 winners, enabled the Explorers to reach the four-team state tournament.

Coach Pete Aiello of the Explorers also added further honors to the Columbus total by being named Coach of the Year in recognition of bringing the school its first Class A championship in baseball.

Joining McCammon on the All-Star squad from Columbus are catcher Ken Olsen, a .323 hitter and a standout defensive man, James Cox, the .408 hitting outfielder, and little Tito Gomez, a fine gloveman and .283 hitter, at second base.

Curley's All-Stars include pitcher Bill Wagner who recorded 101 strikeouts in 63 2-3 innings, James Paul in the outfield and Tom Talbot at third base.

LaSalle placed pitcher Bob Koziol on the team along with outfielder Frank Miro.

Cardinal Newman's John McElroy won the nod at first base while Mark Binko is the pick at shortstop from Cardinal Gibbons. Only a sophomore, Binko hit .357 and is the first member of a Gibbons squad to earn all-star honors in any sport.

Turning in top performances but just missing out on honors were pitcher Jim Bilancio of Newman, catcher Robert Parks and Shortstop Ronnie Lipshitz of Mary Immaculate High; first baseman Pat O'Connor of Gibbons, pitcher Ron Huff, catcher Gary Bryce and shortstop Bernard Daley of Chaminade, first baseman Larry Gilliard and outfielder Benny Saltivan of Msgr. Pace, and Butch Stallings of St. Patrick's.

The designation of McCammon as the diocese's most outstanding player completes a big sports year for the Explorers as they nabbed top individual honors in three of the four sports for which all-star teams are selected.

Halfback David Hiss gained the honor in football, and Frank Lagotic got it in track. St. Thomas Aquinas' 6-9 center, Les Freeman, was named the most outstanding player in basketball.

St. Dominic's Needs One Win To Sew Up CYO League Title

Only Our Lady of Perpetual Help CYO stands in the way of St. Dominic's drive to the championship of the Dade County CYO Softball League as St. Dominic's made it five straight wins this week with a 10-5 win over SS. Peter and Paul.

St. Dominic and Our Lady of Perpetual Help which has a 3 and 2 record after a 5-4 extra-inning loss to Blessed Trinity last Sunday will face each other at OLPH's home diamond this Sunday, June 2.

Gary Hinds with 3 for 3 and Manny Martinez with 3 for 4 led the hitting attack for St. Dominic's.

Blessed Trinity and Our Lady of Perpetual Help ended their regulation seven innings in a two-all tie. OLPH lost no time in jumping out front in the top of the eighth banging in two runs to take what looked like a comfortable two-run lead.

A dropped ball by the first baseman and a hit to left field by Jim Cardini helped Blessed Trinity push across three runs in their half of the eighth to take the victory away from OLPH.

Holy Family (2-1) went down to defeat for the first time by losing to St. Rose of Lima 8-3. St. Rose CYO's only loss was by one run to St. Dominic. St. Rose now has won four.

Holy Rosary ran its record to four wins and only one loss by outlasting St. Lawrence (1-3) in an contest that went nine innings. St. Lawrence had come from behind to tie the game up in the bottom of the seventh 4-4 but Holy Rosary won it in the extra innings 10-4 with the help of a four-bagger by Pete Dunne.

In the only other contest played in the League The Cathedral (4-1) defeated St. John (2-2).

Here is the league schedule for Sunday, June 2:

Holy Family at St. Mary
St. Dominic at Our Lady of Perpetual Help

St. Monica at St. Lawrence
Blessed Trinity at St. John
St. James at SS. Peter and Paul

Holy Rosary at St. Timothy
St. Rose at St. Vincent de Paul

St. Brendan at Corpus Christi

A total of 23 persons in the Diocese of Miami have already made reservations to make the Diocese-sponsored trip to Europe and the Holy Land this summer.

Deadline for making reservations for the trip which will be by jet plane, is June 15. Anyone wanting to make the pilgrimage must notify the travel agent in their area who is authorized to make reservations for the pilgrimage and place a deposit with him by that time.

Among the cities in the Diocese already represented on the tour are Miami, North Miami, Hollywood, Naples, Fort Lauderdale, Coral Gables, and South Miami.

Film presentations and talks are now being made before various parish groups in the Diocese by Philippe Bazin, district manager of Air France. Mr. Bazin shows color and sound films of the shrines of Europe and the Holy Land which will be visited on the pilgrimage.

TO SHOW FILM

On Thursday, June 6, Mr. Bazin will present his films and give a talk on the pilgrimage before the Holy Name Society of the Cathedral, 7506 NW Second Ave., at 8:30 p.m. following the installation of Holy Name officers.

On June 10, Mr. Bazin will make his presentation to the parishioners of St. Pius X. Church at 1:45 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Frank Peter, 2708 NE 26th Ave., Fort Lauderdale.

Anyone who wishes Mr. Bazin to show his film and speak on the Shrines of Europe and the Holy Land is asked to contact him at FR 4-2626. Mr. Bazin stressed, however, that he will not be able to show the films to individuals but only to parish groups.

Spiritual director for the tour will be Father Bernard McGrehan, pastor of St. Juliana parish, West Palm Beach.

The tour will leave New York July 27 via a jet plane which will arrive in Paris on July 28. On arriving in Paris, the pilgrims will be allowed to spend the balance of the day at their leisure visiting the sights in the city and shopping if they wish. On the following day, July 29, the group will assist at morning Mass at the Chapel of the Miraculous Medal. The morning Paris panorama will include a visit to Notre Dame Cathedral with its marvelous interior, the Invalides, the Champs Elysees, the Bastille, the Place Vendome, the Opera, the Rue de Rivoli, the Sainte Chapel built by St. Louis, the Sacre Coeur Basilica, the Eiffel Tower and the Arch of Triumph.

An afternoon excursion will be taken to Versailles visiting the fabulous Palace with its elegant apartments and rooms and the enchanting gardens with hundreds of statues, fountains and floral bouquets. The group will return to Paris in time for dinner at the hotel.

The following morning after Mass the group will depart by jet plane for Cairo where they will spend the balance of the day in local sightseeing.

On July 31 they will be taken to see the Egyptian Museum with the treasures discovered in the tomb of Tut-Ankh-Amon. That afternoon they will go by camel or donkey to visit the pyramids, the mysterious Great Sphinx, and the Granite Temple.

The next stop on the trip will be Beirut, Lebanon, where they will visit the American University, the Pigeon Rocks, the Museums and the fascinating excavations of an ancient Phoenician city.

From Beirut, the group will board a plane for Jerusalem where they will assist at Mass at the tomb of Our Lord at the Church of the Holy Sepulchre. After breakfast they will have a full-day tour of the city visiting the Temple area, the Dome of the Rock, the Wailing Wall and St. Ann Church.

After lunch they will continue to the Mount of Olives, the Ascension Place, the Church of Pater Noster, the House of Mary and Martha, Lazarus Tomb, Gethsemane, and the Tomb of the Virgin.

On Aug. 5, the pilgrims will go to Bethlehem to visit the Church of the Nativity commemorating the spot where Our Lord was born.

Aug. 6, 7 and 8 will be spent in excursions to the Dead Sea and Jericho, a visit to the New Jerusalem in Israel, tours of the City of Tiberias, and Nazareth where Mass will be celebrated at the Church of the Annunciation and a visit to Mt. Carmel and the cave of Elijah.

Pilgrims Will Visit St. Peter's Basilica

On Aug. 9, the pilgrimage will leave by air for Rome. In Rome the group will spend its first full day there sightseeing at such points of interest as the Roman Forum, the ancient Colosseum, the Imperial Fora, Palatine Hill, the Basilica of St. Paul outside the Walls, and Capitoline Hill.

The pilgrims will assist at Mass at the Basilica of St. Peter on Aug. 11 and after lunch will visit the Vatican museum, the Galleries, the Sistine Chapel, and Pincio Gardens.

Aug. 12 will be a day for the pilgrims to go about the city as they wish with that night reserved as a special "Roman Night" in the Trastevere, the most colorful and picturesque quarters of Rome. On this occasion the group will have an opportunity to sample some delightful Italian delicacies.

LOURDES SHRINE

Aug. 13 will find the pilgrims winging their way towards the famous shrine at Lourdes

On Aug. 15, the group will assist at a special Mass in commemoration of the Day of the Assumption.

Chocolate Cookery Packs A Taste Punch

Ever since Toll House Cookies came down the pike, semi-sweet chocolate morsels have been headline cooking news. First it was cookies, then it was cakes, finally an entire new art of shortcut chocolate cookery.

I am told that now shoppers choose five times as many packages of semi-sweet chocolate as unsweetened chocolate.

Brownie Candy Cookies, quickly made with morsels, have that smooth, semi-sweet chocolate flavor and a texture altogether different. The suave, sophisticated little cookies come to the coffee table to accompany cinnamon stick demi-tasse.

So chocolaty are these cookies that they have the flavor of miniature brownies. Brownie candy cookies come by their fudgy flavor naturally, since they are a companion recipe to the famous two-ingredient short cut fudge.

Now with one 14-ounce can of sweetened condensed milk you can make both a batch of Short Cut Fudge and 7 dozen Brownie Cookies. That's an interesting enough prospect to set anyone to cooking.

BROWNIE CANDY COOKIES

* 1/2 cup (approximately) cup sweetened condensed milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1 egg
1 6-ounce package (1 cup) semi-sweet chocolate morsels

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1/4 cup sifted all-purpose flour
1/4 cup water
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup coarsely chopped nuts

Combine condensed milk, sugar and salt in saucepan; bring to a boil, stirring constantly. Beat egg slightly. Add a little of condensed milk mixture, stirring rapidly. Add egg mixture to remaining condensed milk mixture and cook, stirring over moderate heat, 1 minute. Remove from heat. Add semi-sweet chocolate morsels, butter, water and vanilla, stirring until smooth. Stir in flour and nuts. Drop by teaspoonfuls on ungreased foil-lined cookie sheet. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 12 to 15 minutes. Cool thoroughly and peel off foil.

YIELD: 7 dozen

*Remainder of 14-ounce can after making Short Cut Fudge.

CANDY DISH SHORT CUT FUDGE

1 12-ounce jumbo package or 2 6-ounce packages (2 cups) semi-sweet chocolate morsels

2-3 cup sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon water
1 teaspoon vanilla

Melt semi-sweet chocolate morsels over hot (not boiling) water. Remove from heat. Add condensed milk, water and vanilla. Stir until smooth; do not beat. Chill until firm enough to handle. Shape as follows:

1. Form in small balls and roll in quick chocolate-flavored mix, instant sweet milk cocoa, tinted coconut, chopped nuts, candied fruit, almond slivers, etc. Chill till firm.

2. Form into small finger-like logs or shape logs to form crescents. Dip ends in melted semi-sweet or tinted butter frosting, then in finely chopped nuts or tinted coconut. Chill on waxed paper.

BROWNIE CANDY Cookies Make Choice Morsels

3. Drop by teaspoonfuls on waxed paper to form fudge drops. Decorate, if desired. Chill.

Following is a delightful jellied meat salad which is nice to serve as an entree now that the weather is a bit warmer. A casserole and some light hot rolls would complete the meal.

JELLIED HAM SALAD

1 1-lb. 4-oz. can crushed pineapple
Water
2 3-oz. packages lemon flavored gelatin
1-3 cup white vinegar
2 tablespoons horseradish

1/2 teaspoon salt
2 cups cooked ham, diced
2 cups celery, chopped
1/2 cup green pepper, chopped
1 2-oz. jar pimento, Salad greens

Drain crushed pineapple and set fruit aside. Combine the juice and enough water to equal 3 1/2 cups liquid. Heat 2 cups of the mixture to boiling and add the gelatin. Stir to dissolve. Add remaining juice and water mixture, vinegar, horseradish, salt and pineapple. Chill until slightly thickened. Add ham, celery, green pepper and pimento. Blend and pour into a 6 1/2 cup ring mold that has been oiled. Chill until firm. Unmold on large salad plate and garnish with crisp greens. Serve with your favorite dressing and pass the hot rolls, please.

CHART EXACT TEMPERATURES FOR MEAT CUTS

As a doctor charts a patient's progress by modern means of medical science, so too a homemaker can chart a like course in her own kitchen when it comes to the culinary sciences.

A roast meat thermometer is one of the surest ways by which a homemaker can exactly calculate the doneness of a roast.

As you already know, low temperature meat cookery is highly endorsed by the experts in the cookery field. As the temperature at which the meat is cooked increases, shrinkage increases. Low temperatures involve less watching by the homemaker, less drippings and less work in cleaning equipment.

How does one chart these exact temperatures? By simply using a roast meat thermometer. More and more, this item is becoming a piece of standard equipment in the kitchen.

Cooking time (approximate number of minutes per pound) is only a guide to the degree of doneness. However, laboratory research has shown us that roast meat thermometers are accurate guides when used properly.

When inserted in a roast, the bulb should not rest in fat or on a bone or the proper internal temperature of the meat will not register.

FROZEN MINT CUBES WITH FRUIT

1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple
2 teaspoons unflavored gelatin
1/2 cup mint jelly
Dash salt
1 cup whipping cream, whipped
Few drops green food coloring

1 can pear halves
1 avocado, cut in wedges
1 can dark sweet cherries
Whole strawberries, fresh or frozen
Crisp salad greens

Drain pineapple, reserving syrup. Soften gelatin in syrup. Add jelly and salt. Heat, stirring constantly, till gelatin is dissolved and jelly is completely melted. (Stir well to blend in the jelly). Add pineapple. Chill until partially thickened and syrupy. Fold in whipped cream. Add few drops of food coloring. Pour in 1 quart refrigerator tray and freeze until firm. Cut in 1 inch cubes.

Drain pear halves and cherries. Line large fruit platter or plate with salad greens and arrange on greens pear halves and avocado wedges in a circular pattern. Fill in with cherries. Center with frozen mint cubes and garnish with whole strawberries.

'How Should You Discipline A Child?'

We are a group of newly married couples — all expecting children in a few months. We've read about the need for discipline in children's lives and would like to do some thinking and planning about it even before they arrive. Can you set some guidelines for our discussions?

By FATHER WALTER W. IMBIORSKI
Family Life Director, Archdiocese Of Chicago

(Guest Columnist for Father John L. Thomas, S.J.)

Discipline is the power whereby parents enforce authority. But it has a broader meaning! A disciple, as in the scripture, is a learner; his discipline is the demand made and satisfaction received by his field of learning.

For parents discipline should mean not simply punishment but also reward, both used to teach and guide the child until he becomes mature.

Discipline should be an act of love which seeks the good of the child or, sometimes, the good of the family. No mother would hesitate to punish a child playing with lighted matches. Better that he should be spanked than scarred by fire! The disciplinary act actually was an act of love: thinking, willing, and acting for the good of the child.

Punishment should not be an act of anger. If, against your command, you see Jimmy dart across the street, narrowly missed by a truck, you (frightened and enraged) run down to punish him. You could do him far more harm than the truck!

Don't Punish In 'Cold Blood'

On the other hand, don't punish in "cold blood" saying: "I won't do anything now, but later this afternoon I'm going to kill you!" Never discipline by prolonged disapproval, creating the impression that the child is forever rejected.

Discipline must be balanced. Remember that a child almost has a "right" to a certain amount of noise, breakage and mischief. On the other hand, parents need not tolerate whining, insolence or tantrums.

Discipline with reason! Tell the child the connection between the punishment and the crime, if it isn't obvious. Let Jimmy know beforehand what he can expect to be disciplined for: let him know the type of punishment he can expect in certain situations.

Don't constantly threaten but never act. Never promise a punishment you are not ready or willing to employ. Threats like "I'll call the police!" or "We'll sell you to the gypsies!" can be effective for a short time with the naive young child, but after that, they are useless.

In complex situations, the child ought to have a chance to defend himself, to present extenuating circumstances, to give his side.

Direct Action Usually Best

In simple situations direct action is usually best. For instance, an expensive lamp is broken in circumstances where no one but Jimmy could have done it. It is far better not to press for a signed confession before meting out punishment.

Even when Jimmy is caught dead-to-rights and Dad demands, "Did you do that?" he will very likely say "NO!"

Discipline consistently! Don't let one parent assume the role of "Dread Disciplinarian" while the other is "Defender and Consoler." Seventy per cent of the time, Mom will have to do the punishing because she is present. It should be only on rare occasions and in important matters that she should warn: "Wait till your father comes home!"

Husband and wife should discuss their children's behavior and agree on the method and measure of discipline long before it is needed.

The most common disciplinary methods are: a show of disapproval, omitting signs of affection, suspension of rewards or privileges, and corporal punishment.

The most successful discipline comes from a truly happy home. Parents who are unable to create an atmosphere of enjoyment, fun, and humor soon find that a child cannot be successfully disciplined without the strictest of measures. In order to make a child behave, one has to create a real difference between moods of approval and disapproval.

When a parent's ordinary mood is easy and loving, the child feels deeply deprived when he incurs disapproval; something very real has been taken away. But with parents who do not give this pleasure, there is nothing changed when a child misbehaves; the parent's disapproval means nothing.

INDIA: A CHAPEL FOR THE KING OF HEARTS

In the early days of America, the English King was toasted "under the rose." Some Tory-minded Americans continued to do so even after the Revolution. The month of June reminds us of roses and the King of Kings for this is the month of Christ's Sacred Heart. An ever-widening devotion to It has come down the years like some grand triumphal march. In the 13th Century, St. Gertrude the Great heralded it. St. Margaret Mary and Blessed Claude de la Colombiere introduced the consecration. Pope Pius IX dedicated the Church to the Sacred Heart. Leo XIII consecrated the world to It. Finally, Pope Pius XI in 1925 instituted the Feast of Christ the King, a day when one may consecrate one's own life to the King of Hearts . . . In India in the archdiocese of Changanacherry, seven Sisters of the Sacred Heart are trying bravely to extend this kingdom with few resources. They teach the children. They have only a small house, built with borrowed funds. There is no place for the Blessed Sacrament, no quiet place for prayer. They ask our generous help and the Archbishop adds his plea. $3,000 will build them a suitable convent and chapel. Will you help? This would make a lovely gift to set before a King—especially in this month of roses and the Sacred Heart.

God bless Mummy. I know that's right. Wasn't it fun in the bath tonight? The cold's so cold, and the hot's so hot. Oh! God bless Daddy — I quite forgot.

Heavens to Betsy, that would be a forgetting indeed, particularly with FATHER'S DAY coming on Sunday, June 16, only two weeks from now. Why not sit down right this minute and think out a religious gift to give him. Below are some suggestions. We'll send him a beautiful FATHER'S DAY GIFT CARD with an enclosure of Holy Land flowers.

A MASS FOR HIS INTENTION. The Mass is forever. Said in time, it's value is for Eternity. What better way to remember Dad.

A $10 FOOD PACKAGE to help a needy PALESTINE REFUGEE FAMILY. It will last them a month. They are truly the forgotten people.

A $2 BLANKET FOR A BEDOUIN. It's cold at night in that land.

A STRINGLESS GIFT. To be placed where most needed. We have many demands.

A MISSION CHAPEL GIFT. A memorial that will go on giving. We suggest:

SHARING OUR TREASURE

Lives Of The Saints Kindled His Interest In Catholicism

By FR. JOHN A. O'BRIEN, Ph.D.

Did you ever hear of a Protestant minister becoming not only a convert but also a priest, and being permitted to continue his conjugal life with his wife, who also became a convert? Not often, for there have been few such cases in modern times.

Father O'Brien

The first one to achieve this unique distinction is Rev. Rudolf Goethe, a former Lutheran minister and now a priest of the Mainz diocese in Germany. He tells the whole story in "We Are Now Catholics," Newman Press, Westminster, Md., and it makes interesting reading.

"I was born," he relates, "in Geisenheim of devout Lutheran parents. Grace was regularly said at meals. My first parish was the little market town of Worrstadt in the middle of Rhenish Hesse. I plunged wholeheartedly into the work of the pastoral ministry. In December, 1916, the war took me for two years to the western front as a military chaplain, where I saw suffering, bloodshed and death on every side.

INTEREST KINDLED
"My interest in Catholicism was kindled by reading the lives of St. Therrese of Lisieux, St. Bridget of Sweden and the great St. Teresa of Avila.

"That interest was deepened by reading Guardini's beautiful book, "The Lord," and Karl Adam's remarkable work, "The Spirit of Catholicism." I had a long and delightful visit with Count Preysing, the Catholic Bishop of Berlin, who quickened my interest still further.

"About this time Professor Joseph Lortz published his great book on the Reformation in Germany, which was a pioneering work with the intention of reuniting the separate Christian Churches in the one fold with the one Shepherd. I was beginning to see the tragic error committed by the Reformers when they broke the unity of Christendom and tore so many from the historic Mother Church.

"My wife, the former Countess Bulow von Dennewitz, shared my interest in the Catholic Faith and we both prayed fervently to the Holy Spirit for guidance.

"She preceded me into the Church, being received by Rev. Dr. Schmitt in the Cathedral of Mainz. Gradually my center of gravity shifted from the merely personal to the objective, so I gained a deeper understanding of the objectivity of sacramental action.

"I felt the gate of heaven itself opening wider above me as God's holy Mother and all the angels and saints became genuinely real to me as fellow combatants and allies of the Church Militant here below. I perceived the marvelous unity of the Catholic Church, which distinguished her from all the Churches founded by men.

"I was deeply moved by the profound reverence of holy priests at the altar. This helped me to take the last step of Faith: belief in the reality of the substantial change in the Holy Eucharist at the Consecration of the Mass.

FIRST COMMUNION
"In April, 1950, I journeyed to Mainz, where Father zu Lowenstein received me into the Church and Bishop Stohr gave me my first Holy Communion.

"I continued my studies and was ordained by Bishop Stohr on December 22, 1951. On the following day, my 71st birthday, I celebrated my first Mass. Great was my joy, for I had returned to my Father's House. The Holy Father's authorization of my ordination tells our Evangelical brethren that when they come over they will not be treated as second-class citizens, but will share in everything. What would a mother not do to bring her children back!"

The Question Box

Why Are Bread And Wine Consecrated Separately?

BY MSGR. J. D. CONWAY

Q. Will you kindly explain why the bread and wine are consecrated separately at Holy Mass?

A. One reason is that Our Lord did it this way at the Last Supper, and we do what He did, in commemoration of Him.

Another reason is that the separate consecration — and the physical separation — of the two species, bread and wine, symbolize and recall for us the actual separation of the body and the blood of our Savior on the Cross. In this symbolism is our nearest perceptive approach to the hidden reality of Sacrifice in the Mass. The Sacrifice of Jesus on the cross was a visible, tangible shedding of blood from a suffering, dying body. The Mass is the effective continuation of that visible Sacrifice of Calvary; but on the altar we have a living, glorified Body which can never suffer or die again. So we symbolize the enduring death of Calvary by the double consecration. But since there is no real separation of Christ's body and blood we symbolize also the glory of His Resurrection, and His impassible, sanctifying life for us in heaven.

Q. Is it possible to make restitution for stolen money by giving it to charity?

A. Not if it is possible to restore the money to the person from whom it was stolen.

Q. Can you please tell me something about our Blessed Mother's title, "Our Lady of Good Counsel"?

I plan to begin some new work in a field related to counselling, and I would like to plan my work under the guidance of Our Lady of Good Counsel.

A. Counsel is an act of the intellect which seeks the appropriate means for the attainment of our goal in life. It is associated with the virtue of prudence, which guides our lives and activities towards the glory of God and the salvation of our souls.

Counsel presumes a problem which is complicated, which requires study and deliberation. Very often our intellect needs help in solving the problem. That is why we take counsel. That is why, in legal matters, we retain counsel.

Counsel is one of the seven Gifts of the Holy Ghost. It prepares our souls to exercise the virtue of prudence under divine impetus. The title, "Mother of Good Counsel" in the Litany of Loreto is recent. It was added by Pope Leo XIII in 1903. But an older title, Mother of True Counsel, is found in one or another litany from about the 13th century.

In some local calendars there is a feast of Our Lady of Good Counsel on April 26.

Indulgences have been granted for devotions in honor of Our Lady of Good Counsel on 12 successive Sundays — or Saturdays — and on the first Sunday — or Saturday — of each month.

An indulgenced prayer invokes Mary as the "Virgin chosen by the eternal Counsel to be the Mother of the eternal Word made flesh" and asks her to be our "guide and counselor in this vale of tears."

Q. I have been told that a woman cannot marry her brother-in-law if her husband dies. This does not make sense since her in-laws are not blood relation. The death of her first husband would end her legal relationship to his family. Perhaps if I understood the reasons for this Church law I could accept it.

A. The impediment to which you refer is called affinity. Its basic purpose is to keep high moral standards within the family circle. It seeks to establish and maintain an attitude of brother-sister relationship between a man and his wife's sister between a woman and her husband's brothers.

Possibly the reason for this impediment is not as evident today in our American society as it was in former centuries, or as it may be now in other nations — particularly the emerging ones, in which the family circle may be much closer than ours.

If the general laws of the Church were made only for the United States I would be almost inclined to agree with you that this particular impediment has outlived its purpose. On the other hand it causes no great inconvenience; whenever sufficient reasons urge it a dispensation can be obtained.

Fight Looms Against Film Classification

By WILLIAM H. MOORING

HOLLYWOOD, Calif. — Last December, in reporting that our Bishops' Committee for Motion Pictures, Radio and TV had called upon the movie industry to set up an effective system of voluntary advisory classification, I recalled a two-hour debate in which I took part late in 1961.

Hollywood In Focus

Attorney Nathan Schoichet, Southern California censorship committee chairman of the American Civil Liberties Union and film producer Herman Cohen opposed me.

I did not advocate film censorship. I tried to defend voluntary film classification. Viewers who telephoned questions or contributed to the heavy mail, ran 75 per cent in favor of some form of control over films shown to juveniles. Most of them preferred classification to censorship.

Mr. Schoichet agreed that the National Legion of Decency has "the right" to issue advisory film classifications to guide its members. Accepting for the moment, his rational line of argument, it would follow that other religious organizations — the Protestant Film Commission for instance — as well as cultural, social and political ones, have the same right.

For by his denial that there exists either any authority or standards for the moral evaluation of motion pictures, Mr. Schoichet implicitly denied the Church's mission to save souls.

Last week, Mr. Schoichet declared that "the ACLU battle against film censorship now will be fought in the area of classification where it has gone in view of cases lost for out-right censorship". He calls classification the "back door to censorship" and insists that "the choice of films in the case of the child is entirely up to the parent".

there must be those who agree and those who disagree with Mr. Schoichet and the ACLU. The arguments he advanced against the moral evaluation of movies reminded me of the words of Pope Pius XII. It is not such much that God is denied as that He is left out.

LIKE MEASLES

Like measles, moral debilitation in movies, is catching.

Joseph Levine just dusted off Jules Dassin's morally offensive picture which MGM released in 1960. They then called it "Where the Hot Wind Blows", although the film is not so hot.

In their last annual report, our Bishops acknowledged that parents "have the primary right and duty to guide their children in motion picture attendance". This does not exonerate from all responsibility, those who make and market the films.

Voluntary advisory classifications by film vendors could at least inform and assist parental guidance. Of course, classification involves the recognition of moral standards. As an ACLU spokesman Mr. Schoichet spurns all references to "moral objectionability", "obscenity", "pornography", "glamorization of sin" etc.

Levine has restored the original title, "The Law," put back parts the Legion of Decency calls "grossly suggestive . . . thinly disguised pornography" and is now rebooking it to film - short theaters. "The Law" which stars Marcello Mastroianni, Melina Mercouri, Gina Lollobrigida, Yves Montand and Pierre Brasseur, is CONDEMNED by the Legion.

At least he did so on our TV forum. He sought to rationalize and reduce the entire problem to one of "individual taste".

In the pluralistic society of which we now hear so much,

Following Levine's example, Sam Cummins of Jewel Productions, contemplates reviving Hedy Lamarr's oldie, "Ecstasy," after re-instating nude swimming scenes the censors cut out way back in 1936. This picture, the Legion of Decency condemned in the first place.

'55 Days At Peking' Mammoth Epic

By WILLIAM H. MOORING

55 DAYS AT PEKING (Excellent). Family. (Allied Artists). In this Philip Yordan-Bernard Gordon screenplay, the Boxer Rebellion of 1900 becomes the anti-colonial trigger which activated China's internal upheaval, leading eventually to conditions of today.

MOVIE REVIEW

Historical parallels may be evident to history-conscious viewers although no direct point is made of communism versus colonialism.

The film, handsomely mounted in superfine Technicolor on Technirama 70, is another of those mammoth epics in which producer Samuel ("El Cid") Bronston has made his mark. Seething insurrection, bloody siege (of Peking where revolutionaries first attacked the foreign compounds) and ornate panoply at the palace of the perfidious Dowager-Empress Tzu Hsi (Flora Robson at her best), lend pace and pageantry to a story which intermittently loses intensity as it moves into over-talkative, close-up groups. Having regard to the scope of the many-sided narrative, this is a minor flaw in Nicholas Ray's direction.

Specially notable among the lengthy, name cast, are Charlton Heston as U.S. Marine officer leading the defense of the beleaguered, international diplomatic compound, David Niven as the British ambassador, Robert Helpmann as Prince Tuan and (in a non-starring character role) a delightful little Chinese girl, Lynne Su Moon. Ava Gardner barely fills the bill as a Russian Countess, perhaps because she is limited to a series of pretty poses.

Legión de María en septiembre de 1921 en Dublín, Irlanda.

Se arrodillaron alrededor
de una mesa en la que había una imagen de Nuestra Señora de la Gracia. Rezaron el rosario y las invocaciones
al Espíritu Santo, seguido de una lectura espiritual. Se redactaron planes detallados con respecto a su labor primordial y se tomó consejo sobre el espíritu y método a seguirse en el trabajo. Se nombró la directiva, se acordó tener una reunión semanal y luego se terminó con una oración.

A la siguiente semana se
efectuó la segunda reunión.
Cada miembro informó sobre su visita al hospital. Fueron muy alentadoras. Nuevos miembros se hallaban presentes; y semana tras semana, según crecía el número
de miembros, un nuevo campo
de operaciones se presentaba
a la vista.

Así continuaron desde entonces cada semana las reuniones y con la llegada de nuevos miembros la expan-
sión que hoy cubre casi todo
el mundo cristiano.

En 1931 ya la Legión había
llegado a los Estados Unidos, más tarde en el 45, a México,
en el 47 a Colombia, en el 50
a Puerto Rico, Argentina y
Venezuela; en el 53 a Cuba,
después a toda la América Central.

LA LEGION EN MIAMI

Aunque ya aquí la Legión era conocida entre los norteamericanos, fue el Padre Antonio Navarrete el fundador del primer grupo de habla
hispana en la parroquia del
Corpus Christi. Eso fue en septiembre de 1958. El grupo sigue funcionando con el mismo entusiasmo y ya hoy en esa misma parroquia funcio-nan tres praesidiums de la Legión.

En total trece praesidiums
de habla hispana trabajan hoy en la Diócesis de Miami. A más de los tres del Corpus Christi, hay dos en SS. Peter and Paul, dos en la Inmaculada Concepción, de Hialeah;
dos en St. Patrick, Miami Beach; dos en St. Brendan, uno en la Catedral y uno en
Bell Glade.

Por otra parte, aunque no
en la curia que agrupa a todos los praesidiums de habla his-pana, en el Colegio de La Sa-lle funciona un equipo de la Legión que está integrado totalmente por cubanos, cuya labor apostólica, bien dinámica y fecunda por ciento, se realiza principalmente entre la colonia latina.

LA LEGION DE MARIA crece por semanas entre la colonia latina de Miami. En presencia de otros integrantes de ese movimiento, la joven María Isabel Cisneros hace su Promesa Legionaria.

Así, la Legión de María, en
menos de un lustro, se ha convertido en uno de los movimientos apostólicos más pujantes y efectivos entre la colonia de habla hispana. La tarea iniciada por el Padre Navarrete en el Corpus Christi fue desarrollándose con
rapidez que se acentuó con
el éxodo de cubanos a estas tierras.

Muchos de los latinos que
han llegado a Miami ya ha-bían conocido la Legión en

sus países. Otros se unieron a ella aquí y se entregaron a la obra apostólica con todo el fervor mariano que traían inculcado de sus países. Hombres y mujeres de todas las edades se están entregando en
Miami como en todo el mundo a la tarea de acercar a los hombres a Dios, aquí, particu-larmente, a la de conservar
y acrecentar el espíritu cristiano de emigrantes y refugiados llegados a esta ciudad.

Graduación de Belén

El próximo jueves, día, 6, a las 10 A.M., se efectuará en la iglesia de Gesu la misa de graduación del Colegio de Belén (Jesuit Preparatory School), que será oficiada
por el Obispo Coleman F.
Carroll.

Terminada la misa, 31 jóvenes cubanos recibirán de ma-nos del señor Obispo los diplomas como graduados de High School. El Jesuit Preparatory School está dirigido
por los padres jesuitas que en Cuba tenían a su cargo el afamado Colegio de Belén, clausurado durante la persecución religiosa hace dos años.

LOS ESTUDIANTES cubanos del Colegio de La Salle integran uno de los más fuertes baluartes de la Legión en Miami.

LOS LATINOS DE MIAMI se unen con entusiasmo a la Legión, como muestra del fervor mariano que trajeron de sus países. En la foto una jovencita cubana, María Virginia Garrido, escucha atenta las explicaciones que sobre la Legión le ofrecen Etta Mooney y Elba Barreto; también en la foto Mary Mooney y Anita Llanusa, así como el padre Leonardo Vázquez. En total, dos cubanos, dos argentinas, una puertorriqueña y una costarricense.

Destacan Buena Conducta de Niños Refugiados

CLEVELAND — Más de 14,000 niños cubanos han sido asistidos por el Catholic Welfare Bureau al llegar solos a Miami huyendo del comunismo, dijo Mons. Bryan O. Walsh al pronunciar el discurso principal del banquete anual de la Liga Americana de Bienestar de la Niñez y de la Conferencia Nacional de Bienestar Social de Estados Unidos y agregó que el grupo impresiona por su buena conducta.

MONS. BRYAN O. WALSH

Una mención honorífica entregada a Mons. Walsh y al Catholic Welfare Bureau de Miami en reconocimiento a su meritoria labor por el bienestar de esos niños, hace que sea esta la primera vez que dicha liga honra con una mención a una institución que no pertenece a ella.

El presidente de la Liga, R. H. Collacott presentó el documento de reconocimiento, expresando:

"Como testimonio de los servicios sobresalientes de esta agencia a los niños cubanos refugiados, de la respuesta devota de sus funcionarios y directores a la demanda de esos niños desplazados, y de la magnífica demostración de cooperación con el público y agencias al objeto de proveerles de hogares adoptivos, lo hondo de la preocupación hacia esos niños, el propósito de procurarles cuidados y el profundo sentido de responsabilidad por auxiliar a cada niño sin tener en cuenta su nacionalidad y residencia, según ha quedado evidenciado, son las cualidades que la Liga honra y desea proclamar durante esta reunión anual en Cleveland."

Al explicar los antecedentes del programa en que las Archidiócesis católicas de todo el país están cooperando, Mons. Walsh dijo a los trabajadores sociales que los jóvenes refugiados son generalmente niños de las familias de clase media, entre 6 y 18 años de edad.

El 50 por ciento son niños de más de 12 años; el 25 por ciento, niñas de más de 12 el 15 por ciento niños de menos de 12; y el 10 por ciento niñas de menos de 12, muy pocos proceden de familias muy ricas. Algunos de familias de pescadores y campesinos, especialmente entre los 13 a 18 años.

"Vienen en todas las medidas y colores, chinos, negros, germanos, irlandeses, ingleses y, desde luego, de origen hispanico. Como grupo impresionan a los visitantes por su buena conducta y buenas maneras; son abiertos y amistosos."

Los niños, en mi opinión, agregó Mons. Walsh, se ajustan con más facilidad que las niñas a las costumbres nuevas de los Estados Unidos.

"Esos niños fueron enviados porque sus padres podían ver por todas partes los resultados del adoctrinamiento comunista. Fue para proteger a sus hijos frente a esto que realizaron el sacrificio de enviarlos a los Estados Unidos, conscientes plenamente que con este acto se declararon abiertamente contrarios al comunismo y al régimen castro."

Explicando que los trabajadores sociales conocen muy bien las penas que a los padres les traen la separación de sus hijos, Mons. Walsh dijo que esta agencia que al presente tiene a su cuidado directo en Miami 1,053 niños, estima que la separación por sí sola no ha causado daños.

Pensamos que la razón estriba en el hecho de que salvo en raras excepciones no se trata de niños abandonados, como son tantos de los que vemos en los programas regulares de nuestra agencia. Nunca han sufrido la pena de ser rechazados ni han conocido la pérdida del amor de sus padres. Es obviamente natural que esta experiencia debe afectar al niño cubano pero en cuanto alcanzamos a ver no ha tenido ninguna consecuencia adversa."

El 75 por ciento de los niños a quienes hemos auxiliado no están atendidos por nosotros al presente. En una u otra forma sus problemas han sido resueltos — sus padres, otros familiares o amigos los han reclamado o bien, por haber llegado a la edad de 19 años han dejado nuestro cuidado.

Según Mons. Walsh, 6,969 de los 14,101 niños que llegaron a los Estados Unidos hasta el 12 de mayo necesitaban el cuidado de los hogares adoptivos. Otros fueron esperados a su llegada por amigos o parientes. En esta fecha 3,297 han sido entregados por nosotros a sus familias y amigos, al tiempo que 2,616 se encuentran en otros 37 estados al cuidado de 91 agencias.

Jesucristo Mismo Impuso la Unidad de la Fe

CAPITULO V
 (Continuación)

Tanto insistió Cristo sobre la unidad de fe, que en los evangelios le vemos tratando de inculcar esta verdad en una y otra ocasión. Así, en la precisa víspera de su pasión, este es el tema especial de su oración: "Oh Padre Santo, guarda en tu nombre a estos que tú me has dado, a fin de que sean una misma cosa, así como nosotros lo somos." (Juan 17:11)

Y para mostrar que no pedía esta unidad solo para los Apóstoles, sino también para las incontables multitudes que habían de creer en Él a través de las edades, Cristo añadió las significativas palabras: "Pero no os ruego solamente por estos sino también por aquellos que han de creer en mí por medio de su predicación; que todos sean una misma cosa y que como tú, oh Padre, estás en Mí y Yo en Tí, así sean ellos una misma cosa en nosotros, para que crea el mundo que me has enviado." (Juan 17:20-21.)

Esta insistencia sobre la necesidad de la unidad en la fe tiene repetido eco en las enseñanzas de los Apóstoles. Con lealtad inquebrantable hacia su divino Maestro, dieron constante ejemplo de esa unidad en su misma vida y aconsejaron a sus adeptos permanecer constantes en esa misma unidad: El infatigable Apóstol de las gentes escribe a los Efesios: "Yo pues, que estoy entre cadenas por el Señor, os conjuro que os portéis de una manera digna del estado a que habéis sido llamados... solicitos en conservar la unidad del espíritu, en el vínculo de la paz, un cuerpo y un espíritu, así como fuistéis llamados a una esperanza de vuestra vocación. Un Señor, una fe, un bautismo; un Dios y Padre de todos" (Efs. 4:1-6.)

¿Qué contestará el defensor del moderno indiferentismo a la severa reprobación que San Pablo dirige a los Gálatas, por sus discordias y falta de unidad en la fe?...

"Me maravillo — escribe San Pablo — cómo así tan de ligero abandonáis al que os llamó a la gracia de Jesucristo, para seguir otro Evangelio. Mas no es que haya otro Evangelio, sino que hay algunos os traen alborotados y quieren trastornar el Evangelio de Cristo. Pero aun cuando nosotros mismos, o un ángel del cielo, si posible fuese, os predique un Evangelio diferente el que nosotros os hemos anunciado, sea anatema. Os lo he dicho ya y os lo repito: "Cualquiera que os anuncie un Evangelio diferente del que habéis recibido, sea anatema... Porque os hago saber, hermanos, que el Evangelio que yo os he predicado, no es una cosa humana; pues no lo he recibido ni aprendido yo de algún hombre, sino por revelación de Jesucristo" (Gal. 1:6-13.)

Resulta, pues, evidente que el gran Apóstol de las gentes, al par que los demás Apóstoles, consideraba la distorsión o alteración de cualquier parte del Evangelio dignas de la más severa censura. Pues en realidad lo que viene a decir del indiferente en materia de religión, es esto: "A todo aquel que os predique otra doctrina distinta de la que Cristo y los Apóstoles os han enseñado, apartadlo de vosotros como hereje, para que no pervierta vuestra fe. Consideradle como el más insidioso peligro y si el tal, después de haber sido por una vez amonestado, se mostrare contumaz en su herejía, sea excomulgado de entre vosotros." Estas palabras podrán parecer duras, pero no lo son más que las del bondadoso Jesús: "El que no creyere será condenado."
